HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR has been pleased to direct that the Minute of August 28, 1866, respecting the correct spelling of Sinhalese and Tamil words, be republished for the information and guidance of Public Officers.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, June 1, 1892.

By His Excellency's command,

J. A. SWETTENHAM,
Acting Colonial Secretary.

Minute by the Governor.

His Excellency the Governor, being desirous of putting an end to the unsystematic deformity with which Sinhalese and Tamil words are generally represented by means of English letters in official correspondence and other public documents, has been pleased to direct that the following rules be observed in future by all Public Officers :—

- (1) When native names or terms are introduced into official correspondence, they should be expressed in Roman characters according to the accompanying scheme, which is based on the system originally recommended by Sir William Jones, and since adopted, with partial variations, by Professor Wilson in his Glossary of Indian Official Terms, and by most Oriental scholars.
- (2) No letters should be introduced into any native word which do not exist in the original; and those which do exist should be expressed strictly in accordance with the scheme, which is one of strict transliteration, and, consequently, only one Roman equivalent is provided for each of those Tamil letters which are liable to changes of sound with reference to their position: and for the same reason it is not necessary to adopt diacritical marks to distinguish the full and the half sounds of conjunct consonants in Sinhalese.
- (3) The only exception from this rule should be in the case of the names of particular places which have become stereotyped by long usage in a conventional form, such as Colombo, Jaffna, Negombo, Trincomalee, &c., but in all cases the common affixes should be accurately rendered: thus in Sinhalese names, gala, galla, gama, goda, tota, &c., should be adopted, instead of galle, galle, gamme, godde, totte, &c., and in Tamil, cheri, palli, úr, pur, &c., instead of cherry, poly, ore, pore.

The Governor desires that special attention be paid to these instructions by all Heads of Departments, and more particularly by the Revenue Officers in notices of sales of Crown lands, and in submitting applications for title deeds; by the Surveyor-General, in advertisements of sales of Crown lands, and in plans, maps, &c.; by the Public Works Department, in estimates, &c.; by the Registrar-General, in certificates, indices, &c.; and by all Judicial Officers in the proceedings and process of the courts.

Lists showing the correct spelling of the principal names, &c., in ordinary official use will be published as soon as the necessary type can be procured; in the meantime the following examples are given to illustrate the effect of the prescribed scheme :—

Indian Ocean—Seychelles Bank.—Shallow Water on the Western edge.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 157 of 1892) that a recent examination of the western edge of the Seychelles bank, conducted by Lieutenant and Commander Sayth, H. M. surveying vessel Stork, shows that a nearly continuous rim, of more or less shallow water, extends from Bird island to beyond the western point of the bank.

As it is evident that dangerously shoal spots may exist in many parts of this rim, besides those already known, ships should avoid crossing it north of the fifth parallel of south latitude. Southward of this parallel there is, according to the scanty information existing, apparently a break in the rim.

THOMAS REDDIE,
for Port Officer of Calcutta.

Calcutta, May 16, 1892.

The tracks heretofore given on that sheet for South Channel have therefore been erased.

Ceylon Savings Bank, Colombo, May 23, 1892.

W. J. GORMAN, Secretary.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Colombo, March 17, 1892.

SIR,—IN connection with my letter of the 20th January last, on the subject of the investment of the funds of the Ceylon Savings Bank, and with your reply thereto No. 1 of the 28th of the same month, forwarding a copy of the resolutions passed at a meeting of the Trustees of the Bank specially convened to consider it, I am directed by the Governor, after taking the advice of the Executive Council, to state for the information of the Trustees of the Ceylon Savings Bank, that the subject of the proper mode of investing the Bank funds, which constitutes so material and fundamental a part of the management of a bank, has been again under the consideration of the Government.

2. It will be within the knowledge of the Trustees and Managers that it was contemplated in 1883 to amend the 23rd section of Ordinance No. 12 of 1859, in order to extend the scope of investment in some directions and to restrict it in others, and probably to make other substantial amendments in the law. Action was then deferred owing to personal circumstances in the changes of office. The Government, however, from time to time, in excess of their strict powers and outside of their legal responsibility, but with the desire to promote and assist the good management of the Bank, have interfered with their advice as to the investment of funds. This advice, it is readily acknowledged, has been accepted and acted on by the Trustees and Managers, though not always altogether in agreement with their own views, which were disposed towards other investments giving a higher rate of interest and avoiding the risk of reduction of the rate to Depositors.

3. The connection of the Government with the Bank in the constitution of its officers has probably induced persons to deposit their savings, and has thrown on the Government a moral responsibility as well as a consequent liability from which it can hardly escape. This responsibility and liability, which must fall on the general taxpayer in the event of its being invoked or enforced, naturally compels the Government to be more cautious in the influence and control which it exercises as to the mode of investment of funds, and to restrict itself to such investments as are customarily permitted to banks under purely Government management. The anomaly of liability without actual control calls for an amendment of the law, which must to a considerable extent have the effect of transferring the management to the Government. At the same time, it is readily admitted that the Ceylon Savings Bank has been conducted with signal success; and that with its greater freedom of mode of investment, it has been able to pay to Depositors a higher rate of interest than the caution in investment enjoined on a Government Bank would allow to be continued.

4. There therefore, arises the question which calls for settlement, whether the connection of the Government with the Bank, with the inevitably consequent liability and control on the part of Government, should in any way be continued, or whether the Trustees and Managers should receive their powers and authority, as well as their appointment or election, from the Depositors, and should be at uncontrolled liberty to invest their funds without those restrictions which are placed on a Government. But before arriving at a decision on the question I am to say that it is desired to consult those interested in the Bank; and for this purpose I am to request you to suggest to the Managing Body to summon a Special Meeting of Depositors to consider the question under section 12 of the Ordinance No. 12 of 1859.

5. The alternative should be clearly put before the Depositors. On the one hand there would be the continuance of Government responsibility with greater security of investment, which is considered only fair to the general taxpayer who may be called upon to make good any loss arising from more independent investment, with the greater control on the part of Government, which may practically amount to an entire assumption of management and with a consequent reduction of interest on their deposits. On the other hand, there would be an entire severance from Government control, as well as responsibility and liability, leaving them to have their deposits invested by their own elected Managers and Trustees.

6. The views of the Depositors at or after such a meeting should be ascertained according to number of Depositors, as well as to amount deposited. If the majority of depositors should elect the latter alternative, any dissentients can join the Post Office Savings Bank.

7. In making this proposal the Government desires it to be distinctly understood that there is no want of confidence in the past management of the Bank, and that the suggestion proceeds solely on the resolution to adopt a precautionary principle.

I am, &c.

H. W. GREEN, Clerk, Executive Council.
