FINAL REPORT

By Warrant dated 30th November, 1994, Her Excellency the President appointed Mr. T. Suntheralingam (Chairman), Mr. M.D. Jesuratnam and Mr. H.M.S.B. Madawala to inquire into and report on the following matters :—

- (a) whether any persons have been involuntarily removed or have disappeared from their places of residence in the Central Province, North Western Province, North Central Province and the Uva Province at any time after January 1, 1988;
- (b) the evidence available to establish such alleged removals or disappearances;
- (c) the present whereabouts of the persons alleged to have been so removed, or to have so disappeared;
- (d) whether there is any credible material indicative of the person or persons responsible for the alleged removals or disappearances;
- (e) the legal proceedings that can be taken against the persons held to be so responsible;
- (f) the measures necessary to prevent the occurrence of such alleged activities in the future;
- (g) the relief, if any, that should be afforded to the parents, spouses and dependants of the persons alleged to have been so removed or to have so disappeared;
and to make such recommendations with reference to any of the matters that have been inquired into under the terms of this Warrant.

Mr. Jesuratnam declined the appointment due to ill-health; Mr. Madawala desired to be discharged from the Commission with effect from 01st April, 1995. The appointment of new members to replace them was not sought.

Notices were published in the Newspapers, the Radio and the Television calling for complaints of disappearances since 01st January, 1988. Inquiries commenced in March, 1995. They were conducted in places as close as possible, to the places of residence of the complainants. (A schedule of such places is given in appendix V).

The total number of complaints received by this Commission is, 15,045. Several complaints were received in respect of the same persons. 6,443 complaints have been inquired into, as at 11th April, 1997. New complaints were accepted till 30th September, 1996.

Complaints which could be described, as extra-judicial killings were also inquired into, even though they do not strictly fall into the category of "involuntary removals and/or disappearances" as specified in the warrant.

As a result of threats to some witnesses in the course of the hearings, the press and the public were excluded from the sittings. When requested, evidence was led in camera.

The Commission is required to transmit a report or interim reports, setting out the findings of the inquiries and the recommendations. Nine Interim Reports have already been tendered to the President. The Final Report should be read along with the Interim Reports. Each of these reports contains the observations and recommendations of this Commission, in respect of five of the seven terms of reference. The observations and recommendations made in those reports also apply to all the complaints inquired to by this Commission, from 13th May, 1996 till 11th April, 1997. Gist of the recommendations already made in the Interim Reports, is annexed (vide appendix III). The specific findings of this Commission in respect of the individual complaints inquired into, are given separately in the schedules, annexed to each of the Reports. Terms of reference (e) and (f) remain to be dealt with in this Final Report.

Where there is credible material indicative of the persons responsible, a team of investigators, as recommended earlier, should be appointed. Investigators should be selected from among competent officers, of the Criminal Investigation Department. They should be provided with adequate financial and logistical support to enable a thorough and impartial investigation to be conducted. Before the investigation commences the persons, against whom there is credible material, should be transferred out of the Province and/or sent on compulsory leave.

It is recommended, that the Attorney General assigns a team of State Counsel, to assist the investigators in their work. Where sufficient evidence is available, they should be tried by Civilian Courts and not by Military Tribunals.

Since there is a huge backlog of cases, before the Courts and as 7 to 8 years have elapsed, it is recommended that Special Courts be constituted, to hear cases against those alleged to have caused disappearances. It is important that the sentence should fit the crime.

In several of the complaints inquired into, the names of Members of Parliament, Provincial Council and Pradesiya Sabha members have transpired as those responsible for some of the disappearances. In a few cases, there is evidence that they physically participated in such activities, while in others the disappearance followed threats by such persons.

There are a few Grama Niladharis who had helped the Armed Forces to illegally remove persons. Where evidence against them, is inadequate to arraign them before a Court of Law, they should be severely dealt with for any violation of departmental rules.

Terms of Reference (e) —

THE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS THAT CAN BE TAKEN AGAINST THE PERSONS HELD TO BE RESPONSIBLE.

The Government should vigorously prosecute persons responsible for disappearances. If there is material available against any persons they should be brought to justice, irrespective of who the perpetrators are. Severe disciplinary punishment should be meted out to Government Officials who have failed to take adequate measures, to prevent disappearances.

The civil law in many countries provides the possibility to sue a public official for damages caused in the commission of human rights violations, although sometimes this possibility has been abridged under immunity or indemnity measures. Often civil suits are the only remedy left when criminal prosecution has been blocked.

In addition, disciplinary action should be taken against those who had violated official procedures.

As causing the disappearance of a person is not an offence under Sri Lankan Law, prosecutions might be made on account of acts which constitute the ingredients of a disappearance such as arbitrary arrests, unlawful detention and failure to produce before a Court of Law.

It would be difficult to establish liability in all cases of disappearances, over the past ten years. Indictment and conviction in particularly heinous cases would enhance, in the eyes of the public at large, the credibility of the administration of justice and restore trust in the rule of law. At the same time it may help to bring an end to the climate of impunity still prevailing in the country and promote national reconciliation.

Terms of reference (f) -

THE MEASURES NECESSARY TO PREVENT THE OCCURRENCE OF SUCH ALLEGED ACTIVITIES IN THE FUTURE

- (i) Prompt punishment of those responsible for the involuntary removals and/or disappearances irrespective of who the perpetrators are, is one of the most important steps that could be taken to prevent the re-occurrence of such activities in the future.
- (ii) Laws and Regulations gave special powers such as
 - (a) The power to arrest, and detain incommunicado and without charge or trial, for long periods.
 - (b) The power to dispose of bodies, without post-mortem inquiry or inquest proceedings.

"The Government should undertake a general over-haul of it's Emergency Legislation, relating to arrest and detention of persons, to ensure that the present legislation conforms to accepted International Standards regarding due process and treatment of prisoners. Grounds for the transfer of detainees should be clearly circumscribed. Time limits for bringing a person before a Judge following his arrest should be shortened, as the present time limits appear excessive."

- (iii) "Stricter obligations should be imposed on the officers in charge of the implementation of security legislation. Such obligation should cover matters such as the recording of detentions and transfers, the obligation to obtain, within a minimum period, a detention order or to release the detainee without such an order, the obligation, to inform the detainees of the reason for their detention and to respect their right to have recourse to a competent authority for a review of the detention order, and the obligation rapidly to put into effect orders received from competent courts. Also, provisions may be included which require informing relatives of the place of detention and providing detainees, with easy access to legal counsel. Furthermore, appropriate sanctions for those officers who fail to comply with their obligations should be established in the legislation."
- (iv) The Government should examine closely the Law and Practice of Habeas Corpus in order to expedite the present procedure and make it more effective.
- (v) It is recommended, that appointment, promotions and disciplinary control of the Police be vested in an independent Police Commission in order to prevent political interference with the Police. Members of such Commission should be chosen for their impartiality, competence and independence .
- (vi) Every member of the Police and the Armed Forces should be given a comprehensive education, on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law. Human Rights records of members of the Armed Forces and the Police should be taken into account in the consideration of promotions. The introduction of Training Courses on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law for Army and Police Personnel should be considered.
- (vii) Persons should be detained only in places legally authorised for such purposes. There should be easy access to such places of detention by relatives, Members of Human Rights Organisations and Citizens Committees and the like.
- (viii) In many cases, complaints were not recorded and no investigations were carried out. In few a instances, complaints were recorded but distorted and written. It is important that complaints are recorded promptly and correctly, followed by a thorough, prompt and impartial investigation.
- (ix) In the course of inquiries by the Commission there were instances of intimidation of witnesses. It is necessary that complaints of intimidation be dealt with expeditiously and deterrent punishment imposed.
- (x) Arms and Ammunition issued to Security Personnel especially those assigned to Politicians should be strictly monitored.

In conclusion, it would appear that many persons lost their lives after January, 1988 on account of their political convictions. An analysis of the disappearances during this period would show that most of the disappearances occurred in 1989. It should be remembered that Hon. R. Premadasa became President in the latter half of December, 1988. A General Election was held in February, 1989. By that time the Organisers, Activists and Supporters of the Sri Lanka Freedom Party could have been identified by the then Government in power. There is enough and more material to indicate that most of the victims were organisers etc., of the Sri Lanka Freedom Party. It would appear, that such persons were branded as JVPers and their names given to the Police and Armed Forces for elimination. At the beginning, the response from the Police and the Army as regards elimination appeared to be slow, but later the Police and the Army seemed to have been prodded into action by threats, purportedly by the JVPers; one is not certain whether this was a ploy, adopted by the then Government, to make the Police and Armed Forces go all out to wipe out the Sri Lanka Freedom Party supporters under the guise of crushing the JVPers.

It is imperative that this report and the findings contained therein, are given wide publicity. In the Commission's view, such publicity will serve to inform all concerned, that the Police and Security Forces, entrusted with the power and duty to maintain law and order, will not be permitted to abuse their power with impunity, but will be called upon to answer and pay for any unlawful and/or inhuman acts to committed by them, abuse of the powers entrusted to them.

It will also serve to provide some solace to those who have suffered as a result of such abuse of power, that their grievances have been inquired into, and some relief provided to assuage their grief.

T. Suntheralingam,
Chairman.
