NOTICES CALLING FOR TENDERS.

SEALED Tenders (in duplicate) from persons willing to contract for the supply of a "Dingy," as per specification below, for the Harbour Police, of the under-mentioned dimensions, will be received by the Hon. the Colonial Secretary at his Office.

To be marked on the envelopes "Tender for Dingy," receiveable up to noon on Monday, September 23, 1895.

Deposit for tender forms, Rs. 50.

A deposit, as noted above, will be required before any form of tender is issued, and should any person decline to enter into the contract and bond after he has tendered, or fail to furnish approved security, such deposit will be forfeited to the Crown. All other deposits will be returned after the contract has been signed.

The deposit must be made at the Treasury or Kachcheri, and the deposit receipt must be produced to the officer issuing the form of tender, as his authority for making the issue.

No tender will be considered unless it is on such printed form, to be obtained at the office of the Inspector-General of Police, and unless accompanied by a letter signed by two responsible persons, whose addresses must be given; engaging to become sureties for the due fulfilment of the contract.

The amount of security to be given and all other necessary information can be ascertained on application at the office of the Inspector-General of Police.

The person whose tender has been accepted by the Government will be required to bear the expenses of having security bonds prepared for the due performance of his contract, which bond will be subject to the approval of the Attorney-General, but may be drawn by the tenderers' own lawyers, in which case the name or stamp of the Proctor who drafted the bond should be affixed to the document.

But if a contractor submits a security bond which does not bear the name or stamp of the lawyer who drafted it, he will be required to pay a fee of Rs. 10-50 to the Attorney-General for approving each bond.

The security bond should be furnished immediately on acceptance of tender being notified.

All alterations or erasures in tenders should bear the initials of the tenderers, otherwise the tenders will be treated as informal and rejected.

The Government reserves to itself the right, without question, of rejecting any or all tenders, and the right of accepting any portion of a tender.

SIMANIS DE SILVA, Notary Public of Negombo, has been guilty of gross misconduct in the discharge of his duties. His Excellency, with the advice of the Executive Council, has, in terms of the 18th clause of the Ordinance No. 2 of 1877, cancelled the warrant of the said Notary.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, August 17, 1895.

By His Excellency's command,
E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.

IT is hereby notified that HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR has been pleased to accept Mr. ANDREW DE SILVA JAYASEKARA TILAKARATNA'S resignation of his appointment as Notary Public for the District of Colombo.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo; August 18, 1895.

By His Excellency's command,
E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.

THE following draft rules proposed to be framed under section 5 of the Draft Ordinance to provide for the protection of person and property from the risks incidental to the supply and use of electricity for lighting and other purposes, published in the Gazette of April 11, 1895, are published for general information:—

General.

1. In these rules, unless the context otherwise requires—

(1) Expressions used in the rules have the same meaning as in the Ordinance.

(2) "Electric supply line" means a wire or wires, conductor, or other means used for the purpose of conveying, transmitting, or distributing electricity for light or power, with any casing, coating, covering, tube, pipe, or insulator enclosing, surrounding, or supporting the same or any part thereof, or any apparatus connected therewith for the purpose of conveying, transmitting, or distributing electricity or electric currents for light or power.

(3) "Main" means a conductor used to convey electricity from the source of supply to the point or points where it is distributed for use.

(4) "Lead" means a conductor used to distribute electricity from the mains to the various appliances in which it is to be used.

(5) "Switch" means any appliance for permitting, arresting, or changing the flow of electricity in conductors.

(6) "Commntator" means any appliance for regulating or diverting the flow, or for altering the direction of electricity in conductors.

(7) "Cut-out" means any appliance for confining the flow of electricity to conductors capable of safely carrying it when its amount rises accidentally above the normal.

(8) "Transformer" means any appliance by means of which electricity of high potential is converted to electricity of lower potential, or vice versa.

Rules for the protection of Person and Property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of Electricity.

2. Whenever notice has been given under section 4 of an intention of any person to undertake the business of supplying electricity or to use electricity for a public purpose or in a public place, or such other place as is referred to in clause (b) of that section, the Police Magistrate or Superintendent of Police receiving such notice shall forthwith report the circumstance to the Government, who may thereupon authorize an officer, either by name or in virtue of his office, to enter, inspect, and examine any place, carriage, or vessel in which the officer has reason to believe any appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of electricity are, and any building or place to and in which electricity is to be supplied and used.

3. The Government shall, if necessary, instruct the Postmaster-General as to the roads or public places in which overhead electric supply lines are not to be allowed, and the persons undertaking the supply of electricity or using the same shall attend to any orders of these officers in this respect.

4. The person or persons who intend to undertake the business of supplying electricity, or intend to use the same for the purpose or in a place indicated in rule 2, shall provide all means for testing the appliances or apparatus used in the generation or the supply and use of electricity.

5. The supply of electricity delivered to the consumer's terminals shall be at low pressure, that is, at or under 300 volts for continuous currents, or at or under the equivalent of 150 volts for alternating currents.

6. The variation of pressure at any consumer's terminals shall not exceed at any time 4 per cent. from the declared constant pressure.

7. Conductors must have a sectional area and conductivity so proportioned to the work they have to do that their temperature shall not be raised by the maximum working current to greater extent than 30° Fahrenheit.

8. The conductors or their casings must be placed in sight as far as possible, and they must always be as accessible as circumstances will permit.

9. Within buildings the conductors must all be insulated, and this rule applies equally to all conductors and parts of fittings which may have to be handled.

10. Whatever insulating material is employed, it must not soften until a temperature of 170° Fahrenheit has been reached, and in all cases the material must be damp-proof.

11. When leads pass through roofs, floors, walls, or partitions, and where they cross or are liable to touch metallic substances, such as bell-wires, iron girders, or pipes, they must be thoroughly protected by suitable additional covering; and where they are liable to abrasion from any cause or from the depredations of rats or mice, they must be encased in some suitable hard material.

12. In the case of portable fittings with which flexible leads are used, special precautions must be taken.

13. Conductors must be kept as far apart as circumstances will permit, the spacing between them being governed by their potential difference.

14. When conductors are carried in very inflammable structures, precautions must be taken to insulate them therefrom.

15. Conductors which are protected on the outside by lead or metallic armour of any kind require the greatest care in fixing on account of the large conducting surface which would become connected to the core in the event of metallic contact between them.

16. In cases where conductors pass into a building, from one building to another, or from one room to another, precautions must be taken to prevent the possibility of fire or water passing along the course of the conductors.

17. All joints must be mechanically and electrically perfect to prevent heat being generated at these points. When soldering fluids are used in making joints, the latter must be carefully washed and dried before insulation is applied.

18. Under all circumstances complete metallic circuits must be employed. Gas and water pipes must never form part of the circuit, as their joints are rarely electrically good, and therefore become a source of danger.

19. Overhead conductors, whether passing over or attached to buildings, must be insulated at their points of support. Precautions must be taken to obviate all risk of short circuiting where they are likely to touch a building or other overhead conductors and wires, either by their own falling or being fallen upon by other conductors.

20. In the case of overhead wires, every main conductor must have a lightning protector at each point where it enters or branches into a building.

21. Metal fastenings for fixing conductors must be avoided.

22. The insulation of a system of distribution must be such that the greatest leakage from any conductor to earth (and in case of parallel working, from one conductor to the other, when all branches are switched on, but the lamps, motors, &c., removed) does not exceed one five-thousandth part of the total current intended for the supply of the said lamps, motors, &c., the test being made at the usual working pressure.

23. It is desirable as a means for the prevention of accidents for the positive lead to be coloured differently to the negative, or made otherwise distinguishable.

24. Every switch or commutator must be of such construction as to comply with the following condition, namely, that, when the handle is moved or turned to, and from the positions of "on" and "off" it is impossible for it to remain in any intermediate position or to permit of a permanent arc or heating.

25. The handle of every switch must be completely insulated from the circuit.

26. The main switches of a building must be placed as near as possible to the point of entrance of the conductors, or to the generators of the current if they are within the building itself. Switches must be provided on both leads.

27. Switch boards must bear clear instructions for their use by the inexperienced.

28. Switches, commutators, resistances, bare connections, lamps, &c., must be mounted on incombustible bases. Cut-outs mounted on bases of wood rendered unflammable are admissible. Vulcanite bases are undesirable in damp situations. The cracking of porcelain and earthenware fittings is a source of danger which can be avoided by precautions in fixing.

29. All circuits must be protected with cut-outs; and all leads from the mains or small conductors from larger ones must be fitted with cut-outs of their branching points.

30. Where fusible cut-outs are used, the section must so be situated within its frame that the fused metal cannot fall where it may cause a "short circuit" or an ignition.

31. For all main conductors a cut-out must be provided for both the "flow" and "return," and the two fusible sections must not be in the same compartment.

32. The flexible leads of portable fittings must in all cases be protected by cut-outs at their fixed points of connection.

33. Arc lamps must always be guarded by lanterns or netted globes, so as to prevent danger from ascending sparks and from falling glass and incandescent pieces of carbon.

34. All parts of the lamps and lanterns which are liable to be handled (except by the persons employed to trim them) must be insulated.

35. The armatures and field magnet coils of dynamo-machines must be thoroughly insulated. Dynamo-machines must always be fixed in dry places; and they must not be exposed to dust flyings or other industrial waste products carried in suspension in the air. They must not be permitted in the working rooms of mills, where the liability to such dangers exists, or where any inflammable manufactures are carried on, or inflammable materials are stored.

36. When transformers are used to transform either continuous or alternating currents of high pressure, that is, over 300 volts for the former and the equivalent of 150 volts for the latter, they, together with their switches and cut-outs, must be placed in a fire and moisture-proof structure, preferably outside the building for which they are required. No part of such apparatus must be accessible except to the person in charge of its maintenance.

37. Motors must be subject to the same conditions; but when it is necessary to use them in positions such as those referred to, they must be securely cased in, such cases having a non-combustible lining.

38. Both primary and secondary batteries must be placed and used under the same precautions as prescribed for dynamo-machines; and the room in which they are placed must be well ventilated. The batteries themselves must be well insulated.

39. Transformers must be so constructed that under no circumstances whatever should a contact between the primary and secondary coils occasion high pressure within a building.

40. If it should happen that a connection exist between a consumer's wires and the earth, the electric inspector of the person or persons who supply the consumer with electricity, may, after giving one hour's notice of his intention to do so, enter upon the consumer's premises, disconnect such wires from the mains if the insulation resistance of each is less than 5,000 ohms, and thereby discontinue the supply of electricity until the defect is remedied by the consumer.

41. All conduits, pipes, casings, and street boxes used as receptacles for electric lines shall be of durable material and of ample strength to prevent damage from heavy traffic. They shall be so constructed as to prevent the influx of gas or water either from the adjacent soil or by means of any pipes, and shall be ventilated. The covers of street boxes which contain high pressure conductors shall be connected to the ground by strips of metal laid underneath the roadway or pavement.

42. Transformers which, under normal conditions of load, heat about 150 degrees Fahrenheit must not be permitted to remain in use.

43. No repairs nor alterations must be made when the current is "on."

44. Full particulars of the proposed installation must be furnished when required to the officer authorized by the local Government under rule 2.

These particulars must include a statement of the maximum current to be sent by means of the various conductors, the pressure of the current, and the nature of the current (whether direct or alternating) that is to be employed. Samples of the conductors to be used must be furnished that their conductivity and the quality of their insulation may be ascertained. Specimens of the cut-outs, protectors, and switches may be required if considered necessary by such officer.

Rules for preventing Telegraph and Telephone lines from being injuriously affected by any appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of Electricity.

45. Any person supplying or using electricity shall not lay down any electric supply line, or do any other work for the supply or use of electricity, whereby any telegraph or telephone line established by, or by license from, the Governor in Council is or may be injuriously affected. Before any such electric supply line is laid down, or work is done within ten yards of any part of such telegraph or telephone line (other than repairs or the laying of connections with the mains where the direction of the electric supply lines so laid down crosses such telegraph or telephone line at right angles at the point of shortest distance and continues the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point), the person or his agent shall, not more than twenty-eight nor less than fourteen clear days before commencing such work, give written notice to the Telegraph authority, specifying the course and nature of the work, including the gauge of any electric supply lines, and the person and his agent shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may from time to time be made by the Telegraph authority for the purpose of preventing any telegraph or telephone lines established by, or by license from, the Governor in Council from being injuriously affected by the said work.

46. Any difference which arises between the Telegraph authority and the person supplying or using electricity or his agent with respect to any requirements so made, shall be referred to the Government for decision, and the orders of the Government shall be final.

47. Only one side or the middle of any street must be occupied by aerial electric supply lines.

48. The minimum headway of aerial lines in public places must be 18 ft. and at road-crossings 30 feet.

49. A card of instructions is to be hung in a conspicuous place in electric supply stations, by which the means of resuscitation in cases of injury by electric shock may be indicated. All reasonable and usual precautions against such injury are to be taken in the case of work people who are liable to handle generating machines and conductors and the fittings belonging to them.

50. For the purposes of the foregoing rules, a telegraph or telephone line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, in any manner affected by such work, or by any use made of such work.

51. Electric supply lines must throughout their entire lengths and in all localities be so constructed as to avoid contact with telegraph and telephone lines, and if carried overhead, must be so placed as to enable such lines at any future time to be carried in any street on posts of 24 feet in height without contact with or interference from such electric supply lines.

52. If a person or persons supplying electricity make default in complying with any of the preceding regulations, he or they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 100 for every such default, and to a daily penalty not exceeding Rs. 100. The imposition of any penalty under this regulation shall not affect the liability of the undertakers to make compensation in respect of any damage or injury which may be caused by reason of such default.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR has been pleased to direct that the following copy of an Order of the Queen in Council making rules under section 8, sub-section 3, of The Mail Ships Act, 1891," and which is to be cited as "The Mail Ships (Rules) Order in Council, 1895," be published for general information.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, August 21, 1895.

By His Excellency's command,
E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.

At the Court at Windsor, the 11th day of May, 1895.

PRESENT :

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.
Lord Chamberlain.
Lord Kensington.

Speaker of the House of Commons.
Mr. Arnold Morley.

WHEREAS section 8 (3) of "The Mail Ships Act, 1891," provides that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty in Council to make rules for carrying into effect, as respects British Possessions, the provisions of that Act with respect to the security given by mail ships, and in particular with respect to the commencement of a legal proceeding by service of a writ or process in the Possession, and to the notice to be given to arresting authorities in the Possession, and the evidence to be receivable by such authorities of the security having been given or withdrawn, and the application of the security in discharge of any damages, fine, debt, claim, sum, or forfeiture, where the same are or is recovered or payable either in the British Possession, or under proceedings pending concurrently in that British Possession and in any other British Possession or the United Kingdom :

Now, therefore, Her Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

Notices of Exemption.

1. Any rules of the High Court of Justice in England made under the provisions of "The Mail Ships Act, 1891" (hereinafter referred to as "the Act"), shall be transmitted by a Secretary of State to the Government of every Possession to which the Act is applied for the purpose of a Convention, and shall be published by such Government in the Gazette of the Possession, and also in such local official Gazettes published in the Possession as the Government of the Possession may prescribe.

2. A copy of every notice and list published by the Board of Trade under the Act, or under any rules of Court made under the Act, shall be transmitted by a Secretary of State to the Government of every Possession to which the Act is applied for the purpose of a particular Convention.

3. A copy of every such notice and list, signed by a Secretary to the Government of the Possession, or other prescribed officer, shall be published in the official Gazette of the Possession, and a copy of such Gazette Notification shall be kept publicly exhibited in the Court-room of every Colonial Court of Admiralty in the Possession, and a copy of the said Gazette containing any such Notification shall be receivable in evidence by every arresting authority in the Possession.

4. If, notwithstanding its exemption, an exempted mail ship is arrested in the Possession, the Government of the Possession, on being informed by the owner of such arrest and of the arresting authority, and on being satisfied that the ship is an exempted mail ship, shall forthwith send a special notice to the arresting authority, informing him that the ship is an exempted mail ship, and as such entitled to release.

Actions Against Exempted Ships.

5. An action may be commenced against the owners of an exempted mail ship in the like cases, in the same manner, and subject to the same rules as an Admiralty action in rem, and in any Colonial Court of Admiralty in the Possession in which such an action might have been brought if the ship were not an exempted mail ship.

Orders, by Courts in British Possessions, for Application of the Security.

6. Any order of a Court in a British Possession directing any security to be applied shall recite the name of the Court and of the action or proceeding, the cause of action, and the judgment debt, and shall comprise a certificate by the Judge of the Court that the ship in respect of which the judgment is given is an exempted mail ship, and might but for such exemption have been arrested and sold in execution thereof, and that the judgment debt is still unsatisfied, and is payable out of the security lodged in respect of the ship in the High Court of Justice in England.

7. The order may require payment to be made either in London to a named agent of the execution-creditor, or in the Possession to some named officer of the Court from which the order issues.

8. Every such order shall be sealed with the seal of the Court, and shall be drawn up in duplicate, addressed to the Admiralty Registrar, Royal Courts of Justice, London, and shall be transmitted under cover to the prescribed officer of the Government of the Possession.

9. The said duplicate orders when received by the prescribed officer shall be countersigned by him, and shall be forthwith transmitted to a Secretary of State, who shall cause one of such orders to be delivered to the Admiralty Registrar, and the Admiralty Registrar shall, subject to any direction of the High Court, make an order upon the Paymaster-General for payment of the required sum out of the security in accordance with these rules.

10. Unless the High Court shall otherwise order, and subject to existing rights of priority of liens, orders for the application of any security shall be paid in the order in which they are received by the Admiralty Registrar; but where two or more orders are received at the same time, they shall be paid in the order of their respective dates.

11. Where the order requires payment to a named agent of the execution-creditor in London, the money shall be payable at the rates of exchange current on the day on which the order is received by the Secretary of State.

12. If the order requires payment to be made to a named officer of the Court from which the order issues, such an amount shall be paid out by the Paymaster-General to a person nominated by the Secretary of State, as will at the rates of exchange current on the day on which the order is received by the Secretary of State be necessary to purchase a draft for the amount of the order payable at sight in the Possession, and such draft shall be in favour of the said named officer of the said Court.

13. Where any action or proceeding against the owners of an exempted mail ship is pending in a Court in a British Possession, involving a claim against the security lodged in the High Court in England, the Court in a British Possession shall transmit to the Admiralty Registrar notice of the pendency of such action or proceeding, stating the nature and amount of the claim and the proceedings taken in regard thereto; and in case of the subsequent discontinuance or other conclusion of such action or proceeding, whereby the security ceases to be affected, the Court shall transmit notice of such discontinuance or conclusion. Every such notice shall be sealed, drawn up, addressed, and transmitted to the Admiralty Registrar in like manner as an order for the application of the security.

Miscellaneous Provisions.

14. In every British Possession to which these rules apply, the Governor in Council may, by order, prescribe any matter directed by these rules to be prescribed, or necessary for carrying them into effect.

15. In the application of these rules to British India, the following provisions shall have effect:—

(a) The Presidencies of Madras and Bombay, the lower Provinces of Bengal, and the Province of Burmah shall be deemed to be separate British Possessions.

(b) The expression "Government of the Possession" and "Governor in Council" respectively shall mean the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and the Chief Commissioner of Burmah, with respect to the territories administered by them respectively.

(c) All orders made in pursuance of rule 14 with respect to any part of British India shall be made with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

16. In the application of these rules to any British Possession in which there is a Vice-Admiralty Court, and no Colonial Court of Admiralty, these rules shall be read as if "Vice-Admiralty Court" were Colonial Court of Admiralty.

17. In these rules "judgment debt" means any damages, fine, debt, claim, sum, or forfeiture found by any Court to be payable by the owner of a ship, and "execution-creditor" means the person entitled to a judgment debt. Other expressions have the same meaning as in the Act.

18. This Order may be cited as "The Mail Ships (Rules) Order in Council, 1895."

And the Most Honourable the Marquess of Ripon, K.G., the Right Honourable the Earl of Kimberley, K.G., and the Right Honourable H. H. Fowler, three of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, are to give the necessary directions herein, as to them may respectively appertain.
