Message from the Secretary & Chairman Membership Directory ...

First of all, I thank the President for giving the opportunity to compile this valuable directory.

In compiling this directory I together with SLAP staff took a big effort to gather information as much as possible to ensure highest level of accuracy.

However, the information tend to change all the time, frequent updates are utmost important. This wealth of information will definitely be useful for our fellow printers, buyers & other stakeholders.

While presenting this directory for your use, I would like to kindly request to keep us inform about any changes/ modifications in the details of the membership, preferably in writing.

Thank you,

Ranjith Fernando

EXCEL-G

Offset Process Inks

Environmental friendliness

Excel-G contributes to the protection of the operator's environment and to create a better work place for the operators through the use of aromatic free solvent in formulations and improved ink systems for alcohol free printing.

Excellent Stability on the Press.

Water balance has been widely improved by the use of newly developed water resistant pigments (Pigment Flush). Emulsification has been stabilized resulting in the reduction of printing problems and providing ease of use for the operator.

Excellent dot sharpness and stable ink density.

Ink transfer has been enhanced by the stabilization of emulsification properties, leading to stable dot gain and ink density in the solid images. High quality printing is possible throughout the entire printing process.

Quickset and drying.

The development of new high softening point resins and multi-branched resins has made the highest level of work and turn properties in the industry possible. High stacking of printed sheets and quick work and turn will contribute to achieving an increased level of productivity.
