(Mr. P. C. Imbulana—Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Agriculture and Food)

Nagarajah, (a) (i) Mr. M. temporary daily-paid Food Production Overseer, was discontinued from service, with effect from 31st January 1956, by the then Director of Food Production, on the grounds that his work was "very unsatisfactory" and that "he had shown no improvement in spite of repeated warnings by the supervising officers." (ii) As the file relating to this subject is now not available in the Department of Agriculture to which production overseers transferred from the Food Production Department, it is not possible to answer this question. (b) It is not possible, at this stage, to consider the reinstatement of an officer who was discontinued as far back as 1956. they complete 3 years' service after they have completed their training. (b) The need for this rule has been considered from time to time. Government spends a considerable sum of money in training a nurse, and there must be an adequate return for the expenditure so incurred. department has found out from experience that one-third of the staff is not effective at any time because of the leave privileges. A married nurse can keep away from work with full pay for 148 days in a year. Many of them take half-pay and no-pay leave in addition. The stipulation that they should work at least 3 years as a staff nurse before they get married is in the interests of the country. (திரு. டீ. செல்ற்றன் ஜயசிங்க—கைத் தொழில், கடற்ரெழில் அமைச்சரின் பாராளு மன்றக் காரியதரிகி)

(Mr. D. Shelton Jayesinghe-Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Industries and Fisheries)

It is necessary to collect considerable data in order to answer this Question, and I ask for at least six months' time. The Question covers all industries from 1960, and a lot of figures have to be collected.

පුශ් නය මතු දිනකදී ඉදිරිපත් කිරීමට නියෝශ කරන ලදි.

Question ordered to stand down.

(கௌரவ டீ. பீ. ஆர். குணவர்தன—கைத் தொழில், கடற்றெழில் அமைச்சர்)

(a) (i) Diamond drills .. 8

(ii) Water pumps—
"John Bean" pumps 14

Other pumps .. 7

(b) With the exception of one drill received at the end of 1964, all other drills and pumps are in regular use. The Model HD 22 heavy drill has not been commissioned as the four wheel drive power wagon required for the transport of this drill has not been received yet. The wagon has been shipped and is expected shortly. (c) The Radiometric Laboratory was not established with International Atomic Energy Agency funds. The Agency only provided technical assistance in the form of two experts on short-term assignments. The laboratory has not been lying idle. (d) The Spectrographic Laboratory has not been lying idle and is in regular use. One item of equipment of this laboratory (the spectrophotometer), however, was damaged and could not be used until a replacement for the damaged part was obtained. A replacement has now been received and the instrument has been set right and put into working order. (e) The Director of the Geological Survey is a member of the board of the following corporations:

- (i) Ceylon Cement Corporation; and
- (ii) Ceylon Mineral Sands Corporation.

In addition, he is the local examiner in geology on behalf of the London University and conducts the practical examinations in geology, and the examination of the Gemmological Association of Great Britain. (f) No emoluments have been drawn by him as a director of the Government-sponsored corporations.

As local examiner for the London University, he has drawn the following fees:—

On the last occasion we met in October, I took up with the Leader of the House the question of granting an early date for the disposal of the No-Confidence Motion against the Government which has been tabled the leaders of the Opposition parties. On that occasion the Hon. Leader of the House assured us that he would give an early date for the disposal of this Motion and the Hon. Prime Minister, intervening, said that that date would be much earlier than the dates previous Governments had given for similar Motions.

May I inquire from the Hon. Leader of the House whether he intends to give us a date this month for the disposal of this Motion, or at least will he agree to a meeting of leaders of parties so that we can arrive at some arrangement suitable to both sides of the House for the disposal of the No-Confidence Motion?

POLITICAL RIGHTS FOR EMPLOYEES OF GOVERNMENT, ETC.

(Mr. Keuneman)

Mr. Speaker, I have great pleasure in moving the Motion which stands in my name as the first item on today's Order Paper, namely.

(c) any others whose duties do not involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out government policy;

and calls on the Government to make the necessary administrative and/or legal changes to give effect to this without delay."

I gave notice of an identical Motion during the time of the last Government. Unfortunately, I did not have the good luck to have the opportunity to debate the Motion on the Floor of this House. Now the Government has changed but the situation has not changed, and, therefore, I am again tabling this Motion. I am very glad that I have an opportunity of bringing it to the notice of the House and to ask the hon. Members for acceptance of my Motion. Actually, I tabled this Motion on the very first day that the present Parliament met immediately after the Throne Speech. The Government in its Speech also made some reference to this matter-I shall deal with that in a moment-but I do not think the fact that the Government has made some pronouncement on a part of this question should in any way debar full consideration of the matters that I wish to place before the House in In fact, I hope this this Motion. Motion will act as a spur in getting speedy action on the question.

As you know, the question of political rights for public employees is not a new question. I think this is the first time that it is being debated Parliament on a substantive Motion. There was a Debate in 1962, in the Senate, but that was concerned only with political rights for teachers, and the Debate itself proved I hope my be inconclusive. Motion will not meet a similar fate. After the experience of the previous Private Member's Motion that I brought when hon. Members on the other side seemed to be falling over backwards to prevent a vote, I trust that in this matter, whatever bygones have been, we might come to a point where the House can be called upon to decide the question.

You are aware that the question of political rights for public servants has been often debated in this House. It has come up during innumerable Budget Debates when the Votes of the Ministry of Finance were taken It has been referred to directly and obliquely in many Debates, but the House as such has not yet had an opportunity of arriving at a decision specifically on the question, and this Motion seeks to give the House that opportunity. You are also aware that the question of political rights for public employees is not a question which concerns Ceylon alone; it is a matter which has been the subject of investigation or discussion and debate in a large number of countries of the world and, therefore, as the matters pertaining to the Motion are reasonably familiar to hon. Members of the House, I do not intend to speak at very great length on the question. I wish only to draw the attention of the House to some of the major salient issues and to give a short history of this question as it affects us in this country.

After the statement in the Throne Speech—I think I may admit it agreement general is sides both of on position House that the present in regard to political rights for public servants is not at all satisfactory and You will recall requires changing. that in the Throne Speech the Government made the following declaration on this matter. His Excellency the Governor-General stated:

"My Government proposes to grant political rights to certain categories of public servants."

Now, Sir, we have not had the opportunity of knowing yet what type of political rights the Government intends to grant or what categories of public servants are likely to be the beneficiaries of this political largesse from the Government. If we can even extract from the Government at this late date, seven months after the Throne Speech, some indication of the matter, we shall be more than But you will see that this admission to concede political rights to certain categories of public servants, particularly when it comes from a Government which is headed by a party that has done more than anyone else to deprive public servants of their political rights—a contention which I will establish effectively in a moment—means that the nearly twenty year old agitation of this question in Ceylon has not been entirely fruitless.

there is general agreethat the present position is not satisfactory and requires modification, the real question then to which we have to address ourselves is where and when do we start in the matter, and how far do we go? It is largely on these two questions that I should like to concentrate today.

As I said the question of political rights for public servants has been a source of agitation for nearly two decades. It has now come up in a rather sharp form as a result of the actions of the present Government. On the other hand, in its Throne Speech, the Government declared that it intends to give political rights categories of public certain servants. And no sooner were the words out of the mouth of His Excellency the Governor-General than the Government proceeded to start punishing many categories of public servants for alleged exercise of those very political rights which the Government promised to bestow upon them. Despite specific election promises in its manifesto to the contrary, the Government began a systematic victimization of a number of public servants for the alleged offence of exercising political rights.

In the Debate on the No Confidence Motion against the Minister of Education we gave a number of examples to show how teachers have been victimized openly on the basis of alletain political preferences in the last General Election. Over one hundred teachers, leaders of the Sri Lanka Jatika Guru Sangamaya and other trade union leaders, have been interdicted. Even though seven months have lapsed inquiries into this matter have not been completed. As far as I am aware, only two inquiries have been started. I do not know how much longer these victimized teachers are to remain on half pay with great suffering to themselves and equally great suffering to the system of education. These are all trained teachers. The Hon. Minister of Education admitted that between 2,000 and 3,000 teachers had to be transferred because of the allegation that they had exercised certain political rights.

Yesterday, the Hon. Minister of Health, in answer to a question from me, admitted that as far as the departments of his Ministry are concerned 184 employees had been punitively transferred owing to allegations by Members of Parliament or on the basis of police reports that they had been politically active in the last General Election.

In the Ceylon Transport Board a large number of persons are being transferred on these grounds. I do not want to go into greater detail. I am making that statement with complete knowledge of the situation. I could quote chapter and verse on that matter, but I do not want to do so.

Even certain elementary political rights which workers enjoyed under the previous Government have now been taken away. I am referring now only to the matter of the administration of the Ceylon Transport Board. After the nationalization of the bus services by the late Mr. Bandaranaike's Government, during Bandaranaike's Government during the Coalition Government, trade unions of bus employees, i.e., workers in the Ceylon Transport Board, were given permission to hold trade union meetings inside C. T. B. depots. There were no conditions attached to such meetings. Workers were allowed to meet to discuss what gations that they have expressed cer-they want, to say what they want to say, to take what decisions they want and to go away. Under this new hath haula Government the C. T. B. has issued a new set of instructions. Those instructions say, union meetings of workers in the C. T. B. can be held in bus depots under two conditions: the first condition is, there must be no criticism of the Government; the second condition is, there must be no criticism of the C. T. B. If there is any violation of these conditions, any future meetings may be florbidden and certain actions may be taken against the union or its officials. Apparently the idea is that the board does not want politics to be discussed and apparently it is criticism of the Government that is politics. The workers are free to hold a meeting and to criticize the Opposition. That freedom they still have. Apparently criticism of the Opposition is not politics but some high national purpose.

In fact, I recently spoke at a meeting in the C. T. B. depot at Kandy South. When I went there the organizers of the meeting showed me the letter from the Board with these two conditions.

I also ascertained that, shortly before that meeting, the permanent Minister of Nationalized Services, Mr. Sugathadasa, had spoken and he had made a violent attack on the Opposition, the Leader of the Opposition, the L. S. S. P., the Communist Party, the Marxists and the previous Government. But apparently none of those was considered to be political activity. That was perfectly all right because that is not forbidden by the Board.

But even the right to criticize at a union meeting has now been with-drawn after this Government came into power. So much so that a situation is being created in which the Government is trying to muzzle these trade unions.

I know that when the previous Government was in office there were many such meetings held in C. T. B.

bus depots and meetings at which I spoke and criticized the previous Government and also the United National Party. Then there was free political discussion inside a closed union meeting but now even that has been withdrawn.

Take the case of teachers. I have here a circular issued by the Department of Education. It is circular No. 1965/26 issued on 15th June 1965 and signed by the Director of Education, Mr. de Alwis.

This circular prohibits newspapers of political parties being displayed in any school reading room. Teachers are also asked not to bring any such newspaper to school. What is very interesting is that, although the Government punished teachers for exercising political rights during the last election, this circular actually incites teachers to inculcate loyalty among the pupils to the Government. Paragraph 3 of this circular issued under the hand of the Director of Education asks teachers to inculcate in the pupils certain virtues such as respect for law and order, obedience to the rules of the school, and—this is interesting—loyalty to the Government of the day.

Why on earth should a pupil be loyal to the Government of the day? I can understand if a pupil is asked to be loyal to the State of Ceylon. But why should a pupil, a member of the public, be asked to be loyal to the Government of the day? I can understand if you asked one of your employees to be loyal to the Government of the day. Governments come and go but the State goes on. Our loyalty is to the State, not to the Government. It is my contention that if one is loyal to Ceylon one must be intensely disloyal to this hath hawula Government, and I consider it a patriotic duty to be disloyal to this Government.—[Interruption]. pupil a Government servant? are you asking teachers to inculcate in the pupils loyalty to the Government of the day? Why should pupils be loyal to any Government? It is the belief of all of us that the people's interests will be best served by being disloyal to this Government. The same persons who punished teachers for the alleged exercise of political rights are now using their official authority to instruct teachers to indoctrinate students to be loyal to them. This is a curious position that has developed.

I raise this matter because this is vindictive conduct on the part of the very Government which, in its Throne Speech, made a declaration to the effect that certain categories of public employees will be granted some unspecified political rights. That is why I raise the matter of political rights for public servants as a question of urgency, a question that cannot await the slow deliberation of the Government on this matter.

The Government's position on this matter of political rights is also contradictory. On the one hand, the Government punishes teachers, C. T. B. employees, health workers, and so on, on the alleged grounds that they had transgressed the law, even though the Government admits that the law is defective. On the other hand, the Government openly instructed the officials of the Ceylon Petroleum Corporation to break the law. You cannot have it both ways. Why did you not take action against those public servants? Action was taken against some teachers and other public servants grounds that they had broken cer-Administrative Regulations which are not even the law of the land. That is why it is necessary, at this stage, to raise this matter in this urgent form.

It is a very sad reflection on the state of democracy in Ceylon that the two biggest sectors of employees are denied political rights. We have here what is called an undeveloped economy—an under-developed economy—and the two biggest sources of employment are the plantations and the Public Service. But in both these sectors, the majority of persons employed are denied political rights which are the property of other citizens.

I do not wish to deal with the question of plantations because that is a separate matter and outside the purview of this Motion. But I would like to stress some aspects of this matter as it affects public servants.

I think we must all remember that, in recent years, the numbers of public employees have swollen enormously. They have grown from year to year, and, despite the efforts of this Government to restrict public sector development, this process will continue. In the last few years there has been the take-over of private schools, bringing several thousands teachers into the Public Service; there has been the starting of many new corporations; there has been the nationalization of certain services, establishments and enterprises which were formerly private-owned. As a result, the number of public employees has swollen in the most striking way in a comparatively short period and persons who hitherto enjoyed political rights found themselves deprived of many of those rights as a result of this process. They were forcibly taken away in many cases, or else the enterprises in which they had worked were nationalized, or their activities stopped as in the case of persons who were working in insurance business. We brought the Insurance Bill stopping any further insurance activity by the private sector and concentrating it in the Insurance Corporation; and those persons who worked in insurance business became public servants subject to restrictions in regard to their political rights.

This feature of the steady growth of public employees, which is a necessary phenomenon if we are moving towards socialism or even if we are carrying out what is called a mixed economy, makes it more and more urgent that we come to a satisfactory solution regarding the question of civic and political rights of public employees. In point of fact it is regrettable that in Ceylon while we have, particularly since 1956, taken certain steps forward in the widening of the process of democracy, the position regarding public servants has remained virtually unshaken. Since 1956 we widened the franchise by granting the vote at 18 years and not at 21 as before. In fact there has been, at least until this Government came into power, a considerably more democratic functioning of the administration, but the fact remains that public servants in Ceylon enjoy even smaller political rights than most of their counterparts in other countries of the world. I am not referring here to the socialist countries. In the socialist countries where, naturally, there is public ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange, public servants have the same political rights as any other member of society. There is no difference there at all. I am not even referring to the position in the most advanced capitalist and imperialist countries like the United States of America. We all know that in the U.S. A., with each election the administration itself is changed: administration, in many ways, is part of the party process. That is rather a special case even though it is from a capitalist country. I say that even in relation to some of the advanced countries parliamentary democracies, which I would call bourgeois democracies, public servants in Ceylon, which is supposed to be an advanced democratic country—if not an economically advanced country—enjoy far smaller and less valuable political rights than their counterparts in many countries.

I do not wish to argue this question at great length. Just let me take one or two examples. In fact, to put the matter in a nutshell, I will say that the only political right granted to public servants under our law and the Administrative Regulations is the right to vote at national and local elections. That right they have. That is a private right. It is only by the exercise of the vote that they can participate in the democratic process or influence public decisions, account of the history of the matter

Let us take a question such as whether public servants should have the right to contest elections. In Ceylon no public servant has the right to contest elections. instance, in Switzerland, in such a backward country as Portugal, in Belgium and in Germany public servants can be candidates at elections. The only difference is that if they get elected they are expected to resign from the post they hold; but they can be candidates. In certain countries they can be not only candidates but also Members of Parliament while being public servants but they cannot function as public servants while they are Members of Parliament. This is the position in Sweden, Austria and Finland. These are not socialist countries. They are capitalist countries. In France public servants can stand for election and they are given leave during the whole period they are Members of Parliament, and they can revert to their old position if they are defeated or if they decide to give up being Members of Parliament.

I just took up this one example of what is considered a highly controversial matter, the right of a public servant to stand for election. ferred to national elections, not local elections. In all these countries public servants have very much greater and wider political rights than enjoyed by public servants in Ceylon. In the United Kingdom they have much more substantial political rights. Whole categories of them have all the political rights of other citizens. In the sphere of local government, certainly in the matter of being candidates at elections or being local councillors, very wide sections of them have those rights, even certain rights regarding national elections. I just mentioned this to establish the fact that as far as we in Ceylon are concerned we are several decades behind the times in this matter, even behind the so-called parliamentary democracies.

I hope hon. Members will bear with me if I give them a very short because such an account may help to bring out forcibly the injustices which have been done to public employees in this regard. In this matter we inherited a legacy from the colonial days. In the colonial days public servants were supposed not to take part in politics and there were regulations to that effect. I have here a very interesting book by Dr. Brian Chapman called "The Profession of Government". Dr. Chapman is a senior lecturer in Government in the University of Manchester. standard work on the question. It is available in our Library from which I borrowed it. He describes very well the type of mentality towards politics which coloured colonial thinking and unfortunately coloured a good deal of our own thinking in the post-colonial period.

At page 274, Dr. Chapman says:

"It is indeed noticeable that in countries with a long tradition of paternalistic Government,..."

I think it is very appropriate so far as we are concerned——

"with the ruling class also a social elite, ..."

It is another not unfair comparison with the situation in Ceylon—

"...the word 'politics' is a rather dirty word. Its connoations are of some grubby disreputable activity in which the best people do not indulge. This attitude towards 'politics' undoubtedly has many historical overtones, expressing the political resentment of a ruling class challenged by mass forces; of a social elite forced to give way to social inferiors; of conservatives, prizing above all a stable and orderly society, menaced by democrats demanding a new social pattern. Those who prefer the status quo 'administer'; those who wish to change it play politics. The first are engaged in protecting the national interest, the second in advancing sectional interests."

One might almost think that it is a speech from the opposite side of the House. Then he goes on to define the type of attitude on the basis of which it was sought to keep all categories of public servants away from political activities. He then speaks about what he considers to be the duties of public servants. He says this:

"Neutrality in public office tends in the end to moral corruption. If all governments are to be served with equal impartiality and loyalty there are no grounds at all for criticizing the German official who served Hitler to the best of his ability. In any profession other than government such people would be regarded as dangerous cynics or weaklings."

I am not going into high theories of Government but Dr. Chapman gives a valuable short summary of the type of mentality which produced all those old colonial thinking. We came out of the colonial past into the U.N.P. Governments, and I regret to inform you, Sir, that the U. N. P. Governments of 1947 to 1956 not merely continued the legacy from the colonial days but added to it. They brought in new restrictions on political rights which did not even exist in the times of our colonial masters. One of the people mainly responsible for that was the Hon. Minister of State when he was Minister of Finance in some of the first U. N. P. Governments. I like to draw the attention of the House to some of these additional restrictions which were placed on public servants on political activities by the U. N. P. Governments after the colonial period.

First of all, the real starting point for these new restrictions was the 1947 general strike. This was the first strike in which the Public Service joined the private sector workers in making a number of demands. It played an important part in the political independence of this country. It showed the ruling colonial masters that they could no longer rule in the old way. But the U. N. P. Government never forgave the public servants for taking part in that strike. A large number of them were dismissed, and Mr. T. B. Ilangaratne was one of them. Besides him there were various other persons who were dismissed.

The Government of the day did not stop merely with the dismissals of the persons but it proceeded to introduce new laws which deprived the public servants of political rights which they had enjoyed even during ආණඩුවේ සේවකයන් ආදීන්ට දේශපාලන අයිතිවංසිකම්

the colonial period. For instance, in 1948 an amendment was introduced to the Trade Union Ordinance. After the 1947 general strike the Trade Union Ordinance was amended by the U. N. P. Government and two new sections—Sections 21 and 22—were incorporated. Section 21 debarred Public Service trade unions from having any political objects or maintaining a political fund. Up to that time, like all other trade unions, the Public Service trade unions also could have under the law political objects and could maintain a political fund. But in 1948, for the first time Public Service trade unions were denied this right which other trade unions had.

Secondly, Section 22 stated that the registration of Public Service trade unions can be cancelled if the union, or any of its officers or agents on behalf of the union, promoted, organized, aided or financed any strike of any of its members for the purpose of influencing or overawing the Government on any political issue not affecting public servants as such. This was the first additional restriction imposed in 1948 by the then U. N. P. Government on public servants.

The Hon. Minister of State, the then Minister of Finance, introduced that notorious Administrative Regulation 208B. That was also a creature of the former U. N. P. Government. It is a monstrous regulation, and in fact everyone used to refer to it as the "notorious A. R. 208B." I will read the whole thing for you.

"Any Officer who:

- (1) makes any communication whether written or oral to any other officer or officers whether at any meeting of officers or otherwise, which may tend to incite such officer or officers to defy or resist the policy of the Government, or to undermine the loyalty of such officer or officers to the Government:
- (2) addresses any meeting of two or more officers or of members of the public, or publishes or issues or is instrumental in publishing > written communication, where such an address or communication contains false statements regarding any action of the Government or abusive attacks on the policy of the Government or on any general decision of the Government;

(3) does any act or makes any statement which may tend to bring the Government into disrepute;

shall be guilty of misconduct and shall be liable to be dismissed from the

Provided that the above regulations shall not apply to any expression of disagreement with or any legitimate criticism of the policy or decisions of the Government, in so far as they affect the pay or conditions of service of officers, where such disagreement or criticism is made with a view to having any grievances redressed."

That was entirely an interpolation to the administrative regulations by the Hon. Minister of Finance at that time, the present Minister of State. Mr. J. R. Jayewardene. This was not an empty matter, for the then United National Party Government proceeded to act on it.

There were the notorious cases of dismissal of Messrs. Vykunthavasan and Asirwatham, two leading members of the G. C. S. U. They were having violated with Administrative Regulation 208B. The facts of the case are these: Mr. Asirwatham, who was an officer in the General Clerical Service, wrote an article in the "Red Tape" in which stated that the then Prime Minister, Mr. D. S. Senanayake, and his Government had gone back on the promises they had made, and he criticized them. Mr. Vykunthavasan, who was then the General Secretary of the G. C. S. U. and publisher of "Red Tape", published the article. These two officers were immediately dismissed, one for his criticism, the other for having published it.

There was also the case of Mr. Gladstone Amarasekera. I think he made a speech at Ginigathhena which was somewhat critical of the Government, and he was also dismissed.

Right through this period the question of A. R. 208B became a or issuing to any other officer any lah majordaissue of democratic rights in this country. It is to the credit of the massive campaign launched by the trade unions that the Government was forced to withdraw A. R. 208B, and this regulation vanished into oblivion. The point is that the situation got worse in the period 1952-56 than it was in the colonial period.

In 1956 there was the change of Government. In the elections of 1956 the grant of political rights to public servants became one of the issues. It was in fact included in the election manifesto of the then M. E. P. headed by the late Mr. S. W. R. D. Bandaranaike. From 1956 up to the time this Government came into power the situation in regard to political rights may be described in the following way. In practice there was a tremendous relaxation and non-enforcement of these unconscionable and undemocratic administrative regulations, but, equally, there were very few changes in the law or the regulations which granted public servants de jure political rights. They had de facto political rights but not de jure political rights. After Mr. Bandaranaike came into power, the people who had been dismissed by the earlier U. N. P. Government were given the opportunity to come back into the Public Service. A new administrative regulation, A. R. 267, was incorporated into the Manual of Procedure which mitigated to some extent the very harsh clauses that existed in the Manual in regard to the political activities of public servants.

This new A. R. 267, which was introduced by the late Mr. Bandaranaike's Government, gave public servants under certain conditions the right of criticism of Government policy and the right to agitate for changes of Government policy. This was some mitigation in administrative procedure of the position which had existed earlier, and in practice neither the late Mr. Bandaranaike's Government nor Mrs. Bandaranaike's Government enforced the regulations. In fact I remember some of the criticism that Mrs. Bandaranaike's Government had to face from the Digitized by Noolaham Joundation.

Public Service. They took it all in very good spirit. I do not remember anybody being sacked or discriminated against or having to face a disciplinary inquiry because he criticized the Government. Some of the criticisms were very extravagant, to say the least.

In practice, even though in 1948 the Trade Union Act had prevented Public Service trade unions from federating, they were allowed to federate although it was contrary to law. The P. S. W. T. U. F. and the G. W. T. U. F. and various other federations were formed. federations negotiated with the Gov-The Government recogernment. nized those federations. In practice, there was the grant of the right of political activity without victimization. And in the last stages of the Government—I think it was during the Coalition Government—the Tennekoon Commission was appointed.

The Tennekoon Commission went into the question of political rights for public servants and issued a report. I have not had the opportunity of reading the report—it has not been published—but I have heard persons who have read it describe the report as one that has made certain recommendations in regard to changing the position by granting political rights to considerable categories of public servants.

Unfortunately, the previous Government was not able to implement this report because the period between the issue of the Tennekoon Report and December 3rd, when the Government fell, was rather small, and thereafter there was no Parliament to pass the law. Also, I believe, it involved certain changes in the Constitution, specially in regard to the powers of the Public Service Commission, because the Manual of Procedure is really rules issued by the Secretary to the Treasury on behalf of the Public Service Commission as a delegated function. As such, certain amendments to the Constitution might be required

As I said, that was the position under the previous Government which was not completely satisfactory but better than it was before. We had got to the position that some action was thought necessary in regard to giving wider categories of public servants political rights. Unfortunately, the present Government which started by saying that they were planning to give certain categories of public servants political rights is, in practice, punishing and continuing to punish public servants for exercising certain political rights which they say they intend to give them in the future.

Now, what do we exactly have in mind when we speak of political rights? In Ceylon we have been used to the phrase "political rights." In other countries they have what is called "civic rights". I think this very term "political rights" is a hang-over from the type of mentality to which I referred——the mentality which came down from the colonial days which regards politics as something rather questionable, rather undesirable. In most other countries they refer to this as "civic rights". What we call "political rights" is a right that should be enjoyed by any citizen in a democratic country.

The United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights lays down the main essentials of civic rights. I am quoting this not because I think it is a bible but because it is a document accepted by practically most of the countries of the world, including Ceylon.

Clauses 19, 20 and 21 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights lay down the broad principles of what they call "civic rights" or "political rights". Clause 19 says that one of those rights is the right to free expression, to be able to express your views freely. That is a right, I will show you, the public servants do not enjoy although it is supposed to be a human right universally applicable. Clause 20 refers to the right of association including the right to join those po political parties. That is also a human or civic right. It is being restricted it is being forbidden actually, not restricted. In our country it is forbidden; in some countries it is restricted. Clause 21 gives the right to participate in the Government of the country both directly and indirectly. As I pointed out, the only right the public servants have is the right to cast a vote whenever an election comes along. In other words, they exercise a private and secret political right but not a public and open political right. Perhaps, when we come to things like United Nations documents, matters there are expressed in generality, but we can come down to cases.

Hon. Members opposite may be aware that in 1948 or 1949 the House of Commons in Britain established a committee which issued a report in 1949—House of Commons Document 7718—called "Report of the Commitee on the political activities of Civil Servants." In England public officers are called civil servants. That committee drew up a schedule of what they considered to be the political rights or, as they themselves call it, civic rights. First is the right of contesting parliamentary or local government elections; second, the right of being a member or holding office in party political organizations on a national or local level; third, speaking on public platforms on party political matters; fourth, writing letters to the press, articles, books, pamphlets and leaf-lets in regard to such matters; and fifth, the right of canvassing. In the opinion of the committee those were the basic political rights which they felt a person should have and they brought their mind to bear on the extent to which public servants should be granted all or some of those rights. As a matter of fact, as a result of the recommendations several tens of thousands of public servants in the United Kingdom were granted all these political rights after 1949. section of them were granted some of those political rights, and the very top brass, persons in the category of permanent secretary and head of department level and so on, were not granted those rights; but there was a substantial broadening of political rights.

The time has come for us to make a start here in this country. As I said, we are two decades behind the other countries in this matter. And if we are to do this, it is necessary for us to realize that most of the restrictions on civic or political rights of public servants exist by virtue of administrative regulations in the Government Manual of Procedure. There are some which, of course, exist by force of law. I mentioned, for instance, the question of the denial to Public Service trade unions of the right to have a political fund or to have political objects. That is a question of law. But most of these disabilities flow administrative regulations, many of them coming down from the colonial period and some of them added to by the United National Party Government prior to 1956.

As a matter of fact the restrictions on the political rights of public servants and likewise of employees of corporations and of the Local Government Service to various degrees are to be found in the Administrative Regulations 261 to 265 as well as 275 of the Ceylon Government Manual of Procedure. You will forgive me if I read these regulations because I think these are the particular regulations I wish to have repealed. I do not know whether all Members of the House are aware how far-reaching and sweeping these regulations are.

This is the Ceylon Government Manual of Procedure. It gives under "Section 4.—Participation in Public Meetings, Elections and Political Activities", the following regulation:

"261. Officers, including headmen in receipt of fixed monthly allowances, are strictly prohibited from disseminating political publications and from procuring signatures to petitions to members of the Senate or the House of Representatives or to public officers."

In other words, the right to pass on to another a political publication or even obtain signatures to appeal on any question to a Member, let alone a Minister of the Crown, is forbidden. These elementary rights are forbidden to public servants according to the Manual of Procedure. I do not see what is wrong if they collect signatures and send up an appeal to Members of Parliament. Ministers and Members naive? Merely because they get a petition signed by a number people are they automatically going to accept it without examining the validity of the contents? I do not believe that. This is certainly regulation that must go.

Regulation 274 states:

"Officers are strictly prohibited from sending any official correspondence for publication in the newspapers without the previous sanction of the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry concerned, to be applied for through the Head of the Department."

The freedom of expression, the basic human right, is curtailed and actually forbidden here, if it has not the sanction of the Permanent Secretary.

ආණඩුවේ සේවකයන් ආදීන්ට දේශපාලන අයිනිවාසිකම්

[කෙතමන් මයා.]

This is what Regulation 275 says:

"Without the express permission of the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry no officer is permitted to be the editor of a newspaper or directly or indirectly to take part in the management of it. He may not contribute anonymously to any newspaper in Ceylon ..."—

That is observed more in the breach than anything else.

—"or elsewhere..." or elsewhere!

"...nor may he publish in writing articles or give broadcast talks on questions which can properly be called political or administrative without the sanction of the Permanent Secretary."

Then it goes on to say how the Permanent Secretary must send such scripts up for approval of his Minister and wait for his approval.

Then, Regulation 262 reads:

"No officer is allowed to call a public meeting to consider any action of the Government of Ceylon or the Government of any other country..."— or the Government of any other country! Apparently you must be loyal not only to the Government of Ceylon but to the Governments of other countries. This is one of those ludicrous ideas that has come down from a colonial past—that there were only two sets of countries in the world: Britain and her Colonies; and the duty of a public officer was to be loyal not only to his own country but also to metropolitan Britain.—

"...or take an active part in such a meeting unless he is authorized to do so in his official capacity with a view to discussion and settlement of points in issue with associations representing special intertest, etc."

If I decided to give a public lecture on my impressions of a visit to, say, the U.A.R. or some other country, any public officer who attends that meeting may very well be sacked even though he does nothing but sit there and listen to what I have to say. Of course, in the course of my discussion I may express my views about the system of government that exists in those countries.

Regulation 263 states:

"No officer may take any part in an election to the House of Representatives except by recording his vote, if he is entitled to one. Canvassing or in any other way supporting the candidature of an aspirant to an elected or nominated seat in the Senate or the House of Representatives will be regarded as a grave offence, rendering the offender liable to dismissal from the Public Service. Should the wife of an officer become a candidate for the Senate or the House of Representatives or in any other way take an active part in such an election, the officer himself shall be deemed to have committed a breach of this Regulation."—

Apart from the question of democracy, this is real sex discrimination. This is something that has come down from a colonial past when only males were members of the Public Service, though even in the colonial days there were females in the Public Service. The curious thing is, if the wife of a public servant takes any part in politics that public servant can be dismissed, but if the public servant is a woman, then her husband can take part in politics.

Then Regulation 264 says:

"Officers are prohibited on pain of dismissal from taking any steps to secure their election or nomination, as the case may be, as members of the Senate or the House of Representatives or of any Local Government body except in cases where they are eligible to stand for election and have obtained authority to do so."

I might mention a case within my own personal knowledge. The S.L.F.P. candidate for Rambukkana against the Hon. Minister of Social Services He was was Proctor Muthunayake. defeated. His wife who is a public servant has been transferred, to my knowledge, five times within ten days because her husband had taken part in politics. That is a specific care. thank the hon. Leader of the Opposition for reminding me of that. know these two persons. They are known to me since childhood. I hope she will not be transferred again because I said that I had known her from childhood. I do hope that that is not a disqualification!

The regulation says:

"Should any officer not eligible, or eligible, but not authorized, to stand for election desire to contest any such election at a future date when made eligible (e.g., by resignation from Government service), or to make preparations before the election to further his own candidature or to test his chances at such election, he must resign his post in the Public Service before he initiates directly or indirectly or tacitly or otherwise sanctions any election activities in his own interest."

Then there are certain other regulations like that; I do not want to read them. In practice, public officers have no right other than the right to cast their votes. Now we have come to a stage after 20 years of agitation where both sides of the House agree that this is an absurd and intolerable situation and that we must change it where are we going to make a start? Theoretically it is arguable that every public servant should have political rights, but I am prepared to say that in the present state of affairs we should go step by step. And what categories of public servants should meeting or have these rights? I refer to all Digitized by Noolard and Political rights.

You will notice that my Motion deals with certain categories of public servants. My Motion sets down really a basic test and that is that all public servants whose duties do not involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out government policy should be granted the same political rights as you and I or any other citizen of this country enjoys.

Take, for instance, the biggest grade of public servants—the labour grades. Why are they not allowed to have political rights? How does a worker in the Government Factory or in the Railway Workshop or in the P. W. D. mending roads or a conservancy labourer employed in the Department of Health Services influence government policy? Obviously the case for the labour grades is beyond argument. As far as the labour grades are concerned, is there any reason why they should not be granted the same political rights as you and I? They are not persons constantly in touch with the Ministers, they are not persons who advise the Ministers; they are not persons whose duties involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out government policy. They are hewers of wood and drawers of water. There is no reason why you should not grant political rights to these people.

It is the same with the manipulative grades. How does a postman or a peon or any other person who is in a manipulative grade influence government policy? Why cannot they have the same rights as we have? Will the Government come down if they criticize the Government? Will democracy come to an end if some of them stand for election somewhere and get elected? Will the Government fall if a person in a manipulative grade writes a letter to the press expressing criticism on some aspect of government policy? In fact such a letter from a person with a knowledge of the subject petition from him will reach the Minister; it will be blocked somewhere along the bureaucratic line.

So, it will be seen that my Motion deals with a number of matters which are not questions of controversy. The subordinate grades, the manipulative grades and the labour grades for about 70 per cent. of our public employees. They can be, and should be, at once granted all political rights.

Questions arise on two categories teachers and clerical servants. far as I know it is only in Thailand that teachers do not have political rights. In all countries where there is any degree of democracy I believe teachers have political rights, except in Thailand and Ceylon. It would be a bad state of affairs if we start emulating Thailand—a thoroughly despotic state. In India the vast majority of teachers have political rights. It is so even in Burma. I do not know the situation in Pakistan but I think teachers there have political rights. It is definitely so in Britain. The only restriction on the political rights of a teacher in the United Kingdom, I am informed, is that he or she cannot contest an election to a local government body that employs him or her. Most of the teachers are not employed by the central government but by local You cannot contest an election to the particular local body which employs you but you can contest an election to any other local body. There is not the slightest restriction.

The Government says that it is going to grant political rights to public servants. It is pretty obvious from the way it is acting towards the teachers that it does not consider teachers to be a section of the public servants who should be granted these rights. They say they are going back to the position in Thailand.

some aspect of government policy? I want to draw the Government's In fact such a letter from a person attention to the fact that even the with a knowledge of the subject I. L. O., of which it is a member, has might be very helpful because no made recommendations that teachers should have full civic rights and that it is a necessary part of education that they should have those rights.

I have here the report of a meeting of experts on teachers' problems of the International Labour Organization in 1958. Some of the leading experts in the world met under the auspices of the International Labour Organization and they made a series of recommendations on teachers' problems. This is what they say in regard to civic rights in paragraph 31. Incidentally this became a recommendation of the International Labour Organization:

"Teachers should be free to exercise their civic rights as laid down internationaly in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights..."

In other words, freedom of expression, communication, participation in organizations including political parties and so on and so forth—

"Most countries also accept the principle of the equality of all citizens before the law. Participation in social and cultural life in general, and public affairs in particular, aids a teacher's personal development, and in the interests of education and of its advancement there should be no bar to such participation."

That is an I. L. O. recommendation. This Government is a member of the I. L. O.—this Government and the previous Government also; all Governments.

Party at a joint meeting organized by the teachers' unions, to which they invited all parties, in support of political rights, and he gave an assurance on behalf of the United National Party, of which he is now an important Minister, that they would grant political rights to the teachers. Now the same United National Party has suspended a hundred of the leaders of the unions whose guests they were and transferred 3,000 odd.—[Interruption]. The other Government did not change the law—that was what was wrong with the other Government—but it did give in practice de facto exercise of rights of citizens and certain other rights.

Take even such a small matter as participation of trade unions in trans-One of the biggest achievements of the trade union movement was that the last Government included representatives of the teachers' trade unions in departmental transfer boards. In other words, the unions became associated with the administration. That was a big advance. The first thing this Government, which promised political rights for the teachers, did was to cancel it. Now they have done ten times worse things. The Government has re-appointed the transfer board, but every big trade union is kept out. Only small trade unions with 200 to 300 members are included. The Sri Lanka Jathika Guru Sangamaya is not included. The All Ceylon Tamil Teachers' Union or Association—the biggest organization of teachers in the Tamil medium—is excluded. fact, the only small union is the U. N. P. union. I do not want to tire the House by reading all these statements of very famous persons—[Interruption]. the hon. Parliamentary Secretary would like to read them, I would like to assist him. I am always ready to help him in his education.

All of these famous persons say that participation of teachers in social and political affairs is essential. This is part of the democratic process. It is the same with regard to clerks. In the United Kingdom report of 1949, which I mentioned, the committee draws a distinction between three categories of persons in the administrative service. The first are those whose duties are wholly or partially whose duties are such that they have certain powers of interpretation in given circumstances. These powers are strictly controlled or governed by Acts of Parliament, or by regulations, or by departmental instructions. And third, there is the administrative service possessed of a large measure of discretion.

They consider it undesirable to give political rights to the third category of persons because they have such a large measure of discretion. In the case of the other two, they have recommended the giving of complete or near complete political rights.

I do not wish to labour the point any more. I think it is fairly well established that the categories of employees to which I referred, namely teachers, clerical and subordinate grades, manipulative and labour grades, and others whose duties do not involve the exercise of a large measure of discretion, must be given the same political rights as we have. They should have no more and no less.

The same applies to members of the Local Government Service. The situation in the Local Government Service is practically the same. They are governed by the regulations of the Local Government Service Commission which reproduce practically and identically what is set out in the Manual of Procedure.

In the case of corporations the position varies. One of the queerest features of the corporations is that directors of corporations enjoy full political rights while employees of corporations will be sacked if they exercise political rights.

Now, in the C. T. B., Major Dharmapala has been appointed a director, Mr. Niyathapala been appointed a director, thev exercise their political They are holding meetings and attacking the Communist Party, the Lanka Sama Samaja Party, and asking the people not to routine. worried.—[Interruption]. But if a bus conductor or a bus driver or a worker contests a local government election he gets thrown out; if he appears on a public platform and criticizes the Government he is liable for disciplinary action. And many had disciplinary action taken against them. Some of them even found themselves transferred because they wore "red shirts" or "blue shirts"; some of them because they had been making some remarks about the members of the Board which has nothing to do with political rights—for even that type of remarks made casually people are transferred—[Interruption] and even interdicted.

Sir, I want to say that this is a totally unsatisfactory state of affairs. If you say that until your new regulations are brought amending the Manual of Procedure, employees of corporations should not have political rights, then that should apply to your directors too. Otherwise give the whole lot political rights. I have no objection to directors having political rights.

You want seven months in order to give political rights. The whole argument of my hon. Friends is that they have decided to do something; but they have already taken months on the question of drafting and moving five regulations, which I quoted from the Manual of Procedure. and bringing in an amendment to the Trade Union Ordinance deleting Sections 21 and 22. That, together with an amendment to the Constitution regarding the powers of the Public Service Commission, would solve the entire problem. If my hon. Friends are unable to draft this Bill we will draft it and give it to them in one week. They have got the report of the Tennekoon Committee which has made very specific recommendations on this question. What is this Government's attitude to those recommendations? තිබිය යුත්තේ අපේ රටට පක්ෂපාත කමයි. ආණ්ඩුව කුමක් වුවත් රටට පක්ෂ පාත විය යුතුයි. හැම කෙනකුම රටට

ආණ් ඩුවේ සේ වකයින් ආදීන්ට දේ ශපාලන අයිතිවාසිකම්

තුමා "Civic rights" ගැනත් සඳහන් කළා. පුරවැසි අයිතිවාසිකම් ගැන එතුමා සඳහන් කළා. ඒ "Civic rights" "Political rights" යන්න යන් න වත් අයිතිය කියලයි, මා හිතන්නේ. Civic rights include political rights as well; that is also included in the civic rights.

ගරු නියෝජන කථානායකතුමනි, නිසා අප ඔය එකකටවත් විරුද්ධ නැහැ. නමුත් ඔය කරුණු සංශෝධනය කරන්නට වුවමනා ඉතාමත්ම කල්පනාකාරීව බවයි. මා කියත්තේ. නීති සංශෝධනය කරන අවස් ථාවේදී කුමන කුමන උදවියට කුමන කුමන පුමාණයට මෙම දේශපාලන අයිනි වාසිකම් ලබා දෙන් නට ඕනෑද යන් න ගැන කල් පනාකාරී විය යුතුයි. යම් යම් අයගේ දේශපාලන පක්ෂ තහවුරු කර ගැනීම සඳහා දේ ශපාලන අයිතිය පාවිච්චි කිරීමට ඉඩක් නැති වන විධියට කුියා කළ යුතුයි. එසේ නැත්තම් මේ නිසා යම් යම් උදවිය ගේ නිදහස නැති වන විධියට වැඩ කෙරෙන් නට ඉඩ තිබෙනවා. මක් නිසාද. සාමානායෙන් මේ රටේ ජනතාවට තමන් ගේ අයිතිවාසිකම් පිළිබඳව දැනුමක් නැහැ. අපේ රටේ සාමානා ජනතාව ඒ තත්ත්වයට පැමිණෙන්න තවත් අවුරුදු පණහක් පමණ ගතවෙන්න පුළුවන්. එවැනි තත්වයක් පවතින අතර සාමානා යෙන් අපේ ගම්බද ජනතාව තුළ නිලධා රීන් කෙරෙහි සැහෙන භයක් තිබෙන බව අපට පෙනෙනව. ඒ නිසා සුළු සේවකයන් සම්බන්ධයෙන් පමණක් නොවෙයි, අපේ පාලන යන්නුයේ පුඛාන සථානවල කට යතු කරන නිලධාරීන්ගේත් අයුතු බල පැම නැති වන ආකාරයට මේ නීතිරීති සකස් විය යුතු බව මා පෙන්නුම් කර දෙන් නට සතුවුයි. එසේ නොකළහොත් අප ලැබූ නිදහසේ තේරුමක් නැතිව යනව. මහජනතාව සම්පූර්ණයෙන්ම ආණ්ඩුවේ යන්තුයට වහල් වෙනව. ඒ වහල් භාවයෙන් ජනතාව බේරා ගැනීම සම්බන්ධව මේ ආණ්ඩුවේ ඇමතිවරුත් කැබිනට් මණි මේ යෝජනාව ගැන ඩලයේ දී සාකචඡා කරන අවසථාවේදී කල්පනා කළයුතු බව මා මතක් කරන් හිතැතිව වැඩ කළ යුතුයි. ඒ ශුරු මන්තී නට සතුවුයි. අවසාන වශයෙන් මේ

යෝජනාවේ අදහස මා පිළිගන්නා බව පුකාශ කරන අතර ඊට සංශෝධනයක් ඉදිරිපත් කරනව. ඒ සංශෝධනය මෙසේ සි:

"That this House is of opinion that in implementing the Throne Speech proposals to grant political rights to certain categories of public servants, the Government should consider the following categories of employees, viz.

- (a) teachers
- (b) clerical, subordinate and manipulative grades; and
- (c) any others whose duties do not involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out Government policy;

as those also who should have the same political rights as other citizens, and calls on the Government to make the necessary administrative and/or legal changes to give effect to this without delay".

(Mr. Keuneman)

That is not an amendment.

නියෝජන කථානායකතුමා

(Mr. Deputy Speaker)

May I have the wording of that please? The amendment proposed is this:

"That this House is of opinion that in implementing the Throne Speech proposals to grant political rights to certain categories of public servants, the Government should consider the following categories of employees, viz.

- (a) teachers
- (b) clerical, subordinate and manipulative grades; and
- (c) any others whose duties do not involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out Government policy;

as those also who should have the same political rights as other citizens, and calls on the Government to make the necessary administrative and/or legal changes to give effect to this without delay".

I think that the amendment is in Order. Anybody to second it?

(Mr. Deputy Speaker)

The only difference is this.

කෙනමන් මයා.

(Mr. Keuneman)

Is he really suggesting to add the words, "That this House is of opinion that in implementing the Throne Speech proposals"? If you put it in that way, then it is an amendment.

(உப சபாநாயகர் அவர்கள்)

(Mr. Deputy Speaker)

The last section is-

- "(a) teachers
 - (b) clerical, subordinate and manipulative grades; and
 - (c) any others whose duties do not involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out Government policy;"

තනතුරු දරමින් කටයුතු කරන රජයේ සේවකයින්ට තවම මේ අයිතිවාසිකම, මේ වරපුසාදය, හිමි වී තැහැ.

මෙම යෝජනාවට අතුරු යෝජනා ඉදිරිපත් කළ ගරු මන්තී කලින් කීවාක් මෙන්ම, තුමා යෝජනාවට විරුද්ධ නමුත්, රජයේ සේවකයින්ට මෙම වර පුසාදය ලබාදීමේදී එයින් රට වෙනුවෙනුත් රාජා සේවය වෙනුවෙනුත් පොදු මහජන තාව වෙනුවෙනුත් ඇති වන්නට ඉඩ තිබෙන යම් යම් අපහසුකම්, අනිෂ්ට පල විපාක ගැන විශෙෂයෙන් කල්පනාකාරී විය යුතු බව මේ අවසථාවේදී මතක් කළ යුතුව තිබෙනව. ඒ වගේම රජයේ සේවක සින්ටත් මේ වරපුසාදයෙන් පුයෝජන යක් ලැබෙන තත්ත්වයක් ඇති කරන් නට ඕනැ.

ගරු නියෝජ්න කථානායකතුමනි. අද ලංකාවේ වාසය කරන මිනිසුන්ගෙන්, යම්කිසි පුමාණයක උගත් කමක් ලබාගත් අයගෙන් වැඩි දෙනකුගේ පුධාන රක්ෂාව ආණ්ඩුවේ සේවයයි. රටේ දියුණුව සම්බන් ධව යම්කිසි පුමාණයක අවබෝධයක් ඇති කර ගෙන සිටින, උගත්, ඒවගේම වගකිවයුත් තත් හැටියට ගැණෙන, වැඩි දෙනෙක් ආණ්ඩුවේ සේවයෙහි යෙදී සිටිනව. මේ සැම දෙනාටම හෝ මේ පිරිසෙන් කොටස කට හෝ දේශපාලන අයිතිවාසිකම් ලබා දීමෙන් අවශේෂ උදවියට ඇති වන හොඳ නොහොඳ, කීර්තිය අප කීර්තිය, නින්දාව පුසංශාව යනාදී කරුණු ගැන අප කල්පනා කාරී විය යුතුයි. මෙයින් කුමන කරුණු පොදු ජනතාව කෙරෙහි බලපායිද යන වග අපගේ කල්පනාවට භාජනය විය යුතුයි.

(Mr. Deputy Speaker)

The Motion, as amended, reads as follows:

"That this House is of opinion that in implementing the Throne Speech proposals to grant political rights to certain categories of public servants, the Government should consider the following categories of employees, viz:

- (a) teachers;
- (b) clerical, subordinate and manipulative grades; and,
- (c) any others whose duties do not involve the exercise of an official discretion vis-a-vis members of the public in carrying out Government policy;

as those also who should have the same political rights as other citizens, and calls on the Government to make the necessary administrative and/or legal changes to give effect to this without delay."

I shall now put the amended Motion to the House.
