SPIRITUAL PRACTICE

(SWAMI SIVANANDA)

'My child, will you spend the who's twenty-four hours of the day doing worldly things? Will you think about money day and night? Won't you repeat the name of the Lord a little? Do a little spiritual practice regularly every day, for ten minutes, five minutes, or even only for three minutes. Practice must be regular and systematic; but whatever you do it with sincerity, from the heart. That will do you good. Tulsidas said, "An hour, half an hour, even half of that." What is necessary my child, is earnestness. The Mother dwells in every heart and She does not take into consideration how much time you put into your practice but only how sincerely you do it. She only takes into account how much love and devotion you have for Her. In whatever condition you find yourself, pray very sincerely: "Mother, be gracious unto me. Have mercy on me. Give me devotion and faith at Thy lotus feet." The Master used to say that the Lord responds quickly to the prayers of householders. If they call upon Him, He blesses them because He is the indwelling Spirit. He knows very well what a heavy load has been placed on their shoulders and He is quick to feel compassion for those who are in the world. "Ah, a load weighing several thousand pounds, as it were, has been placed on their shoulders, and yet they want to see me." That is why God is very easily pleased with householders. Therefore, I say, my child call upon the Lord every day regularly no matter for how short a time.

You repeat the Mantra; don't you? that is what is important. What meaning would the Mantra have? It is the name of the Lord and the little mystic syllable attached to it is expressive of the particular aspect of the deity. The name together with the mystic syllable comprises the Mantra. The Mantra primarily refers to God. What would you gain by knowing more of the meaning? Repeat the great Mantra with simple faith. That will be conducive to your spiritual welfare.

Gandhiji's Teachings To Be Engraved On Pillar

A memorial pillar on which the fundamentals of Mahatma Gandhi's teachings will be engraved will be erected at Porbandar where he was born and spent his childhood. Meanwhile, a trust for Rs. 150,000 has been created by Seth Nanjibhai Kridas, a philanthropist of Porbandar, for the maintenance and preservation of the house in which Mahatma Gandhi was born.

Jaffna Merchants Demand Inquiry Breakdowns At The Power House

On the evening of the 20th inst. a Committee Meeting of the Jaffna Merchants' Welfare Union was held at the C. S. K. Mills, Grand Bazaar, Jaffna, with Mr. E. P. Rasiah, the President in the chair and the following resolution was unanimously passed.

In view of the inconvenience and loss caused to the merchants of the Jaffna U. C. area by the frequent break-downs at the Jaffna Power House, this Union resolves to request the Commissioner of Local Government, to hold a public inquiry into the causes of all the break-downs that occurred at the Power House, within the last one year, so that the public may know all facts about this matter and find out what was wrong and who were responsible for creating a state of affairs that cost the rate-payers several thousands of rupees."

Jewish Experts for Ceylon

The possibility of recruiting three Jewish experts in Tuberculosis work from Europe to train local doctors, as a more beneficial and economical alternative to the present system of sending them for short periods of training abroad, has been suggested in a memorandum addressed to the Minister of Health, Mr. Geo. E. de Silva, by the Special Officer, Chest Diseases, Dr. M. de Almeida. The memorandum suggests that the Welisara Chest Hospital should be made the centre for the training of Ceylonese doctors.

Quinine For India

India already receiving paddy from the Indonesian Republic, also hopes to arrange for shipments of quinine from the Sharir Government, according to the Republican news agency Antara. Antara said the request for quinine was made privately.

Russian Troops in Berlin to be reduced

Berlin radio reported that the first contingent of Russian troops to be demobilised left by train for Russia.

The radio said that Soviet troops in occupied Europe are to be reduced soon from 60 to 40 divisions,

Ayurvedic Commission

Public Sessions next week

Dr. M. L. Kaviraj Das Gupta, Superintendent of the Jaminibhus-har Astanga Ayurveda Vidyalaya, Calcutta, who was appointed Chairman of the Ceylon Ayurvedic Commission, arrived in Colombo on Monday last.

The public sessions of the Commission will commence next week at the Colombo Town Hall. It is proposed that the Commission should sit in the morning and in the afternoon, as a large number of persons have expressed their desire to give evidence.

The Commission also proposes to visit some of the principal provincial towns such as Kandy, Jaffna and Galle and hold sittings to give an opportunity to those interested in Ayurveda in these areas to give evidence.

Dr. Gupta told a Press representative that his aim was to combine what was best in the indigenous systems of medicine and Western medical science so that the combined benefits of the two systems of medicine may contribute to the welfare of the people of the Island.

I hope for full co-operation from the Government, so that the doctors of this institution may rank in equal status with the Western-

Indonesian Rice For India

Volunteer "rice collecting squads" of Indonesian youths will be formed in every presidency of Java to accelerate shipment of rice to India, an Indonesian youth conference at Madioen has decided, according to a dispatch from the Republican News Agency Antara. The dispatch said the Indonesian Republican Government had planned to increase the monthly rice shipments to India to 60,000 tons.

trained doctors," remarked Dr. Gupta.

He regretted the irreparable loss caused to Ayurveda by the secrecy observed by some of the practitioners with regard to valuable recipes. These recipes had disappeared with the deaths of their owners. Jealousy and lack of mutual understanding had been responsible for the great harm done to Ayurveda in that direction.

It was time, he emphasised, that indigenous medical practitioners realised that and co-operated with each other and encouraged the desire to exchange the result of their research and gifted them to the world along with their valuable recipes.

The other members of the Commission, it may be mentioned, are Mr. P. de S. Kularatne, Mr. S. Natesan and Pundit G. P. Wickremaratchi, with Dr. J. M. L. Mendis as Secretary.

Blackening The Britishers' Face

Sardar Patel On Next Move

Sardar Vallabhai Patel, the strong man of the Congress in the course of his speech at the Meerut Congress Session stated that the Interim Government was helpless to put down riots in the provinces. He further said:—

The question might be asked "If they were helpless, why did they not resign?" He wanted them to understand that the British Government was on the Muslim League side. The Muslim League were friends in need and now that the British knew they could not possibly stay here longer, they wanted to help their friends, the Muslim League. If only in order to counteract the effect of this alliance, it was necessary for the Congress to stay on in the Government. We can break this Government at any moment. But we shall break it only after blackening the face of the British everywhere."

Surprise for the Police

Thirty-six unclothed "verties" were according to the Police evidence, in the sealed gunny bag given to the custody of the Mallagam Court office.

The Kankasanturai Police charged Puthirasigamany of Valvetiturai and Excise Inspector J. Amarasagara with possession and transport by car of unstamped textiles in breach of Textile Control Regulations.

Mr. K. Ratnasingham defended the first accused while the second was defended by Mr. E. B. Sattukulasinghe, instructed by Mr. C. D. Thiraiwasam.

The bag was opened when a Police officer was giving evidence, and it was found, to the surprise of the Police witness and those in court that it contained 36 washed verties and shawls.

The Magistrate, M. H. C. Z. Wijeratne, acquitted both accused.

NATIONAL LANGUAGES

THE SELECT COMMITTEE appointed last year to report on the "steps necessary to effect the transition from English to Sinhalese and Tamil as the official languages" has submitted its report. We are glad to find that the Committee has resisted the temptation to insist that the transition shall be immediate and has, instead, recommended that there should be a transition period of ten years before English ceases to be the language of administration. On the question whether this period is sufficient, and whether the detailed recommendations submitted by the Committee for facilitating the transition from English to the vernaculars are likely to answer their purpose there are bound to be differences of opinion, but there is not the slightest doubt that a change is inevitable sooner or later. Transition has its problems, and particularly so in the case of Sinhalese. A good deal will depend on the manner in which these problems are handled. We trust, in the event of the Committee's recommendations being accepted, the Government will make an earnest effort to grapple with the real difficulties inseparable from the task confronting it. Some of these difficulties are of a fundamental character. The Committee admits that Sinhalese and to a less extent Tamil have not kept pace with the times, that they are not in the present state able to serve as media for the expression of modern thought, particularly scientific thought, that suitable textbooks are not available, and that there is a dearth of competent teachers. Each one of these difficulties presents a series of complicated problems which have to be faced resolutely, before the change desired by the vast majority of the people can be introduced. No cheap expedient should be adopted to obtain a solution. If the national languages are to secure for themselves the status to which they are justly entitled, they must make themselves worthy of that status by adapting themselves to modern conditions. There is no reason why this cannot be done. If ten years are not enough, let it be done in twenty years, but there must be nothing shoddy about the change. Sinhalese and Tamil are better fitted for the purpose than Japanese, and we fail to see why Ceylon should fail where Japan has succeeded.

School Inspectors and Elections

By The Editor

A few weeks ago I protested in the columns of the Hindu Organ against the participation of Inspectors of Schools in election propaganda. The protest was based on reliable and first-hand information given to me by those present at the meeting of the Youth League at Karainagar. I did not protest merely because a few unwise words uttered by an Inspector of Schools were going to influence the attitude of the electorate towards the various candidates but because I felt strongly that no member of the Public Service should, for obvious reasons, be allowed to take part, either directly or indirectly, in an election campaign. There is every reason to believe that the United National Party is quite capable of disregarding this excellent rule of political conduct, and I thought a timely warning was necessary. It would be an evil day for the people of Ceylon if the Public Service were allowed to influence the election and then run the Government. The success of this candidate or that at the polls is a mere trifle compared with the consequences that must follow inevitably from the association of any member of the Public Service with an election campaign.

The "Times of Ceylon" interested itself in what I wrote in the Hindu Organ and sent a representative to investigate. This representative interviewed me and some of those who were present at the meeting in question, and he was satisfied that there was good ground for the complaint made in the Hindu Organ. I was, therefore, surprised to find Mr. A. E. Tamber, Vice-President of the Northern Province Teachers' Association, in the course of a speech at a recent meeting of the Teachers' Association, denying the truth of the report that appeared in the Hindu Organ and the "Times of Ceylon." I do not know what the Teachers' Association has got to do with the Inspectors, but it would be certainly interesting to know how Mr. Tamber obtained his version of what took place at the Karainagar meeting. I am in a position to state that this version is incorrect. It seems to me that Mr. Tamber is trying to fool the teachers and the public. According to him, the Inspector concerned "who attended the cultural session of this meeting left the meeting before anything political was discussed." What the Inspector actually did was to make an indirect speech in the terms referred to in the "Times of Ceylon." At least one member of the audience was so incensed at the speech that he remonstrated on the spot with Sir Waitialingam Duraiswamy, who, by the way, needs no introduction to the electorate from an Inspector of Schools.

With regard to Mr. S. R. Kanaganayagam's effusions at the meeting of the Teachers' Association, I may say at once that I have little time to waste on making "suitable representations to the proper authorities", nor is it possible to dispose of my complaint by saying that it is only a "sweeping generalisation". Mr. Kanaganayagam, with characteristic irrelevance, says that the Tamil Congress had public servants on its roll of members. It is a matter of supreme indifference to me whether the Tamil Congress has done this or the other thing. I was concerned only with a vital question of principle relating to the participation of public servants in election propaganda. Mr. Kanaganayagam's reference to the "protests of leading Hindus" who objected to the policy of the Hindu Organ is another piece of fiction. The United National Party did make an attempt to influence the policy of this paper but the attempt failed.

I am still unable to see why the Teachers' Association should be so anxious to take the Inspectors under its protecting wing with a supreme disregard for the truth, unless indeed Mr. Tamber feels that the truth and the Association be better kept apart.

UNVEILED AT LAST!

Tributes To Sir Ramanathan

Sir John Howard Acting Governor, unveiled the statue of Sir Ponnambalam Ramanathan in the State Council premises on Tuesday last. He said it was a great honour to commemorate the memory of one whose name was enshrined in the hearts of all in Ceylon, irrespective of race, class or creed.

"It was right and fitting that a permanent tribute should be paid to one who was in the forefront of Ceylon's fight for the right to control her destiny, and whose zeal had left its mark on his successors and provided the inspiration of many who were prominent on the political front today.

"Sir Ponnambalam Ramanathan came of brilliant stock, being the nephew of a famous Ceylonese, Sir Muttucumaraswamy. His brothers, particularly Sir Ponnambalam Arunachalam and the Honourable Mr. P. Cumaraswamy, were also resplendent in the political arena.

"During several years he was the unchallenged leader of the unofficial members of the Council. Sir Ponnambalam Ramanathan was not only the outstanding politician of his day, but was deeply interested in Eastern religion and education. He founded the Parameshwara and Ramanathan Colleges and played a leading part in the establishment of higher education in the Island.

"The public irrespective of race have joined in recognizing his great contributions to the country and in appreciation of his services, whilst all sections have contributed, the Sinhalese community has taken the lead in raising subscriptions for this statue. The gesture and the actions which prompted them are symbolic of the essential unity of the Ceylonese people. They form a happy augury for the future which is bleak without the realization by the various communities of the need for harmony and co-operation in any achievement for the welfare of the country."

Mr. D. S. Senanayake, Leader of the State Council, thanked Sir John for having unveiled the statue of "the greatest Ceylonese of all time."

He said: "I shall always remember him as one who was responsible more than anyone else for bringing about the best of feelings between the Sinhalese and the Tamil communities."

"Sir Ponnambalam by his great services had laid the foundations of self-government and instilled into the minds of the people that a country must be governed not only for the benefit of the people but by the people themselves.

"I believe that the Constitution we have secured is due to the realization of that necessity and to the unity of the people, and I am glad that this statue of Sir Ponnambalam

CANCELLED!

Celebration For Inauguration Of New Constitution

It is learned that the Board of Ministers has now cancelled its previous decision to have elaborate celebrations to mark the inauguration of the New Constitution. The reason for this decision it is learned, is that it is felt that the country cannot afford the expenditure that would be involved in celebrations on an extravagant scale.

A sum of Rs. 2½ million rupees is included in the budget under the votes of the Legal Secretary for expenditure in inaugurating the New Constitution, but it was taken for granted that more would be needed if all the plans contemplated were carried out.

It is understood that the arrangements had been cancelled on the advice of Sir Oliver Goonetilleke.

Language Commission Report

English will cease to be the language of administration ten years hence, from January 1, 1957, if the recommendations of the Select Committee of the State Council, which was appointed last year to report on "the steps necessary to effect the transition from English to Sinhalese and Tamil as the official languages," are adopted.

The Select Committee recommends the introduction of two successive five-year plans in the transitional period (1947-56) to ensure that the substitution of Sinhalese and Tamil will be gradual and efficient.

The general plan to be followed includes the appointment of a Commissioner of National Languages and the creation of a Department of National Languages, the establishment of a Translation Bureau and a Research Institute (under the aforementioned department) and the codification of the laws of the country in Sinhalese and Tamil through translations.

1 Measure Again!

Rice Ration Cut

The rice ration will again be cut to one measure a week from Monday next in spite of the recent optimism of the Food Department which announced a few weeks ago that it hoped to continue the present ration of one and a half measures until early next year at least.

But to give the public a reasonable ration, it has also been decided to increase the flour allowance from half a pound to one pound.

Explaining the cut in the rice ration a high food official said, "It is due entirely to the non-arrival of expected rice ships."

has been unveiled today, during this period when we realize more than ever before that if we are to progress we must unite."

Sir Waitialingam Duraiswamy, Speaker, said that there was one aspect of Sir Ponnambalam's life which he would like to emphasize and that was that Sir Ponnambalam was a truly religious man. His faith in God was deep and implicit. Whatever success he achieved Sir Ponnambalam always ascribed to the will of God.

In the midst of an arduous public life he cultivated its spiritual side and found in it contentment and happiness and that blessing he enjoyed over all others which fortune had showered on him.

Congress and Sikhs Reject

But League Accepts

Both Congress and the Sikhs, it is learned have declined invitations to go with the Viceroy, Lord Weavell to London for talks on India.

The reasons are believed to be that they doubt the usefulness of the talks and are not prepared to acquiesce in any move which reopens the Constitutional negotiations.

On the other hand, the Muslim League, it is understood, have accepted the invitation and Mr. Mohammed Ali Jinnah and Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan will accompany the Viceroy to London.

Police Report

In the State Council on Tuesday last when the adjournment motion was moved, Mr. Thomas Amarasuriya asked when the Police Commission's report was to be published. He said that day-light robberies were becoming common and things were taking a serious turn.

Mr. J. Tyagaraja asked whether it was true that the services of the Inspector-General of Police and other senior officers were to be terminated.

Mr. A. Mahadeva (Home Minister) said that the Police Commission report would be available by the end of the month. There were matters concerning the Police which were under consideration and he could not state anything just now.

Michelin Tyres

KNOWN THE WORLD OVER FOR ITS QUALITY & DURABILITY

Thousands of MICHELIN tyres are produced every month

Where do these tyres go?

That's what everyone wants to know.

British Trucks & Lorries led to Victory—Practically no
MICHELIN tyres were released for Civilian use.

The experience gained in unending research
and toil during war time

NOW helps to produce an even better MICHELIN.

TYRE CONTROL IS REMOVED FROM 21st NOVEMBER
BUT STOCKS ARE STILL IN SHORT SUPPLY.

REGISTER your Names early as tyres will be Delivered according to order of Registration.
