MR. MOLAMURE'S CALL FOR UNITY!

Where He Misconceives

By San

THE Ball of Reforms set rolling by the "front rank Sinhalese leaders" is adroitly kept rolling in the approved fashion of their invention.

The legerdemain employed in projecting and performing this feat would beat hollow the proverbial Indian rope jugglery. It bamboozled the noble Lord Soulbury and his henchman. It has inveigled the minority State Councillors except the redoubtable member for Point Pedro. Heartened by its success the feat is brought up to the North in a series of invasions.

Sometime ago Ministers of State headed by the Leader marched through Jaffna Peninsula like conquering heroes to the throbbing of drums, beaming with the beatitude of brotherhood to "the invertebrate Jaffna man." The latest of the series is in charge of that gentleman Mr. Molamure with the inevitable camp-follower Mr. Mahadeva.

Lord Soulbury and his co-adjudicators fell victims and failed to write the only possible conclusion from the hard kernel of data available, but pirouetted to the tune and tantrum of Mr. Senanayake and his colleagues displayed behind the curtain.

In Jaffna a fungus styled the Nationalist Tamils got possessed of Senanayake's diplomatic exterior and have provided the platform for the performance. After the Jaffna tour Mr. Senanayake and the Board of Ministers dished the Tamils in the person of the Acting Auditor-General.

Soft and soothing words precede a pitfall. We know Mr. Molamure for a clean sportsman, guileless and unsuspecting, but in his goodness not analysing the play and pouting of the Ministers. We are afraid that in his goodness to one and all Mr. Molamure himself has fallen a victim to the sedulous approaches of Mr. Senanayake. We may ignore Mr. Mahadeva for he is doing what he is only capable of, namely the functions of an echoing battery or to alter the metaphor, he is His Master's V(oice). The part of Mr. Jayah is not enigmatic; for the Malays and Muslims, the vast majority of them, are too insignificant a minority to feel the bite and they have gradually tended to fuse their interests with the surrounding larger group. The part shouldered by the member for Kankasanturai in conducting about the emissaries of Mr. Senanayake and in commending their mission should reawaken his electors to his "invaluable services" at a time when rightly or wrongly the generality of Ceylon Tamils feel that they are placed at the mercy of an irremovable communal group.

The sportsman that Mr. Molamure is (seasoned at that) we are surprised to see him intolerant of legitimate criticism. The criticism in a Jaffna paper on the United Nationalist Party and its delegates' visit to Jaffna was fairly made. An appeal for a party must be made on its well advertised plan and policy. Its manifesto is yet to come. What is the logic of appeal for support of something which has not yet taken shape? This is a case of the cart before the horse.

Who would not be bewildered of a party whose High Command is composed of erstwhile irreconcilables? The Tamils may be reassured by Mr. Molamure being one of them. But the first reaction to the "grand cameo" of Messrs. Senanayake, Bandaranayake, Mahadeva etc coalescing for a unified drive is naturally one of bewilderment and even fright. Why should Mr. Molamure be annoyed and angry over a perfectly legitimate feeling?

Reading one of his reported addresses, one feels that the United Nationalist Party will suppress opposition and the intention was made plain by Mr. Mahadeva when he said that the Tamil opposition to the party might have reaction in certain places for which they should not blame the Sinhalese. It is a case of the armour-bearer being more royal than the King. While any man, any group of men, has the right within limits of the law to propagate any idea, why should the U. N. P., and above all so sensible a person as Mr. Molamure, think and speak openly of suppressing opposition? In the face of this, would it be wrong to draw the conclusion that Mr. Senanayake has unleashed the "hounds" to clear the way for a dictatorship?

The call for unity must come after the outing of the plan. To anticipate Tamil opposition reveals a guilty conscience. We have always pleaded for co-operation and any healthy, peaceful disagreement must be free to play. We hope Mr. Molamure will concede this much and will not misconceive disagreement for enmity.

Letters To The Editor

PENSION TO PART -- TIME TEACHERS

Sir,—The Pension Rules of the Education Department do not make provision for the payment of pension to part-time teachers. Certain teachers are employed as part-time teachers because they are specialists and the work they are called upon to do cannot be done by the eligible staff of the school. They fill in a gap which cannot be filled except by their appointment. It is clearly in the interest of the school and never in the interest of the teacher that a part time teacher is employed. Therefore the obligation of the school and the State is none the less compelling than their obligation to the other teachers.

The majority of part-time teachers are employed invariably in non-pensionable work during their spare time or are not employed at all. A part-time teacher, if employed, is either a teacher or is in some walk of life very much in line with the work of an educationist. I have in view a certain teacher who has retired quite recently after serving 33 years as a part-time teacher. During his spare time he was a journalist. Both as teacher and journalist he has rendered meritorious services to the country, and it is unfortunate that what he received as salary for this service was totally inadequate. He is denied the privilege which others who have served the State in other capacities are enjoying. In fact the State has failed in its obligations to its servant in this instance.

If the payment of pension is provision for one's old age in recompense for services rendered to the State the case of the part-time teachers calls for consideration. The pension rule should operate if a part-time teacher had been employed in some pensionable work in addition to teaching. But as there has been no such instance and is not likely to occur in the future the Department should consider the revision of the pension rules so that part-time teachers may not be left in the lurch. Rules should certainly be amended when they operate unjustly to a group of people.

This matter should be taken up by the teachers who are not getting their fair deal which is due to them. They should jointly represent matters and get their grievances redressed.

Yours etc,
K. Kandiah.

Textile Coupons For Mull Verties

Sir,—Re the above, may I know from the Jaffna Textile Association if Mull Verties of 4 yards in length could be got for 4 points in Jaffna?

In the press reports I find no mention was made about this in the interview with the Textile Controller in Jaffna. If it was an omission cannot something be done immediately to rectify this please?

A hand-loomed vertie cannot be got for less than Rs. 16/- whereas a mill made one can be got for Rs. 4/40. Cannot we have the option of buying the cheaper one? 8 points are I think required for mill vertie unless Jaffna Textile dealers are prepared to give for 4 points.

Yours etc,
An Inquirer.

I-5-46.

Selection of Candidate for Jaffna Supply Station Stock-Inspector

Sir,—The former Stock Inspector fell ill and resigned. An officer from the Jaffna Kachecheri was sent to act for him. Applications were called. Many applied and some were called for interview. I may mention there were some who held responsible posts under Government in the past. I understand now that the acting officer was confirmed. If the acting person from the Kachecheri was to be confirmed, I cannot understand why applications were called at all and the worst was why some of them were called for interview. D.F.C. would have been fairer by the public if he at least he did not call the applicants for interview at the applicants' own expense.

Thanking you for a little space.

Yours etc,
An applicant.

I-5-46.

Delay in Correspondence

Sir,—In most, if not all, Government Offices the practice of acknowledging letters addressed to them has become a thing of the past, and it takes months to get a reply. I at all instances there are when attention is called, "no such letters received, send copy". Very strange. Where do these letters go?

Having recovered from the emergency period it is essential that every correspondence deserves to be acknowledged on receipt, unless reply necessitates delay.

Will you or any of the members of the State Council give this subject due attention and relieve the public from anxiety not to speak of the extra expense and labour.

Yours etc,
Kaithady,
5th May 1946.

THE UGLY TRUTH

WE WONDER WHETHER THE speakers at the recent political meetings really thought that the Tamils, instead of co-operating with others for the good government of the country, were preparing to stage a futile boycott. Otherwise it would be difficult to explain the earnest appeal made by them for unity and co-operation. We have no hesitation in assuring them that nothing could be further from the truth. The Tamils, who had wholeheartedly supported the programme of the Tamil Congress, were compelled by the decisions of the British Government to realise that the next step for them was to enter the field of national politics. This was the only possible alternative, and if the speakers referred to the editorials that appeared in these columns at the time of the publication of the White Paper on the new constitution they would have realised that there was no possibility whatever of a communal flare-up. As we have said more than once, the very salvation of the Tamils now depends on the formation of political parties and the establishment of real parliamentary, responsible government. It is inevitable that, in course of time, the Tamils should join one party or other but they must do so on the ground of conviction and not expediency.

We do not wish to minimise what has been done of late by the present Government to promote the welfare of the Tamil people, and we feel that, if these things had been done earlier, it would have avoided much of the heart-burning which was perhaps responsible for some of the more extreme demands put forward on behalf of the Tamils. It would, however, be a mistake if the Tamil people saw in these gifts evidence of a policy which called for their loyalty and support. There is such a thing as communal selfishness, and we should be sorry if the Tamil electors placed a few belated concessions to their material well-being above their duty to the country at large. The performance of that duty makes it imperative that the Tamils before committing themselves to an alliance with any party, should examine the policy of each party and satisfy themselves that that policy is for the good of the country. The public knows nothing as yet of the programme of the United National Party on whose behalf the meetings were held. Our fear was that the policy of the new party would be none other than the policy, or lack of policy, of the Board of Ministers. This fear has not been dispelled by the many things that were said at these meetings. If this fear is well-founded, as we have reason to think it is, then the Tamil people will find themselves in a position of extreme difficulty. They will have to ask themselves whether they should take the bread and butter view of politics and support the men in power, or whether they should give their allegiance to those who would be prepared to put an end to the misgovernment against which we have protested in these columns in vain. We are firmly convinced that many aspects of ministerial policy are harmful to the public interest. Our agriculture is groaning under a tyranny infinitely worse than anything that happened during the darkest period of the Island's chequered history. No foreign ruler ever brought the emasculation of the farmer to such a fine art as the Ministers are doing. The Internal Purchase Scheme suffers from the serious vice of ignoring regional differences in the cost of production. In regard to industry, education and many other matters the policy of the Ministers requires considerable overhauling.

Allowing for differences of opinion that cannot be entirely avoided, one cannot help thinking that it is not in the public interest for the Tamils to identify themselves with any party whose policy is the same as that of the Ministers. It would be an evil day if the gifts to the people of the North, referred to by more than one speaker, were permitted to stifle our conscience and range us on the side of a policy which has been carefully weighed in these columns and found wanting. Above all things, it is the duty of the Tamils to prevent, so far as it lies in their power, the emergence of a dictatorship which will only be a disgraceful parody on the ideal of parliamentary government. The shackles on the people are already being fastened by the Ministers. With everything under control the country is now lying at the mercy of a band of men whose statesmanship is as much open to question as their patriotism. The Tamils in Ceylon have always led the movement for freedom and decency, and we see no reason why they should not once more take up the great role they played at one time in the public life of the Island.

Tripartite Talks In India

Delicate and Crucial Stage

Simla May 7

"Get news from the Cabinet Mission's quarters" was the typical remark heard in Mr. Gandhi's camp this morning after last night's ninety minutes' meeting between Mr. Gandhi and the Cabinet Mission (writes the Political Correspondent of the A. P. I.). Gloom was discernible in the Congress camp and whispers of the Conference not reaching an agreement were heard. Mr. Gandhi was closeted alone in his room for a long time this morning, perhaps preparing the report which he will make to the meeting of the Congress delegation, called by the Congress President for 2.30 p. m. today.

Congress circles indicate that the initiative for the next move now lies with the Cabinet Mission, as the Congress position has been clearly stated by the Congress President at the Conference and by Mr. Gandhi at last night's interview with the Cabinet Mission.

Discussion of Schemes Completed

Talks in the various camps clearly indicate that, in so far as the Tripartite Conference is concerned, discussion of the tentative schemes proposed by the Cabinet Mission appears to have been completed. Both Congress and the League seem to have given their verdict on the tentative proposals, and left the final decision to the Cabinet Mission.

There was no official activity in the Cabinet Mission quarters today, though informal consultations with the constitutional advisers of the Mission may take place. No move on their part is likely to take place until perhaps a reply to the reference made to Whitehall is received.

Members of the League delegation are meeting Mr. Jinnah today with a view to the discussions at the Tripartite Conference and deciding on the next step. The League Working Committee is meeting tomorrow, when Mr. Jinnah will report to the Committee on the progress of the negotiations.

Crucial Stage

Political circles expressed the view last night that the tripartite negotiations had reached a delicate and crucial stage, requiring reference by the Cabinet Mission to the British Premier, Mr. C. R. Attlee, and the British Cabinet.

The reference in yesterday's official communique to the decision to adjourn the Conference till Wednesday afternoon, is believed to mean that the talks have reached a decisive stage requiring reference to His Majesty's Government, specially in the light of Mr. Attlee's speech in Parliament.

The adjournment of the Conference yesterday was followed by a dramatic visit by Mr. Gandhi to the Cabinet Mission in response to their request, perhaps to enlighten them as to the next step to be taken.

Immediately after his return from Viceregal Lodge, Mr. Gandhi was closeted with Sardar Patel, Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan and Acharya Kripalani, the General Secretary of Congress.

Doubt and Uncertainty

It is learnt that Mr. Gandhi worked late into the night on Sunday presumably drafting an important document which he handed over to the Cabinet Mission yesterday.

Commentators are cautious and unwilling to predict one way or the other about the outcome of the Conference, as an atmosphere of uncertainty and doubt prevails at the Conference. A discussion of the broad outlines of the tentative scheme proposed by the Cabinet Mission was completed at the Con-

All-Ceylon Tamil Congress

Policy and Programme To Be Announced

A meeting of the General Committee of the All-Ceylon Tamil Congress (The A. C. T. C. C.) was held at the Saiva Mangayar Kalagam Hall, Wellawatte, on Sunday, the 28th April at 4.30 p. m.

The letter of resignation sent by Mr. S. Sivasubramaniam, Joint Honorary Secretary of the Congress, was considered. The Committee could not accept some of the views put forward by Mr. Sivasubramaniam in his letter as to the future policy and programme of the Congress. The Congress Committee, however, placed on record its grateful thanks to Mr. Sivasubramaniam for his great services and paid a tribute to the devoted, unstinted and most generous work done by him since the inception of the Congress. As all efforts made (both individually and in Committee) to induce Mr. Sivasubramaniam to continue in office had failed, the Committee had no option but to accept his resignation with regret.

The Committee decided to hold the Second Plenary Sessions of the Congress at the Jaffna Town Hall early in August, and further decided to hold a "Congress Week" in the Northern Province either immediately following or immediately preceding the Sessions. During the Congress Week several group conferences, meetings and demonstrations will be held all over the Province, an intensive membership drive will be inaugurated, and special collections made towards the Tamil National Fund which was sanctioned by the Special Congress Sessions held in Colombo on 4th October 1945. It was also resolved to hold "Congress Week-ends" on similar lines at Trincomalee, Batticaloa, Mannar, Colombo and other districts. It was decided that the question of the Congress contesting the next election as a party, and putting forward candidates to fight on its programme and policy should be left for the final decision of the next Congress Session. It was emphasised that this was the most democratic and practical method of elucidating the wishes of the Tamil people. Arrangements were made for the opening of a new Central Office of the Congress in Colombo at an early date and for the holding of weekly meetings of the Working Committee to give more drive and direction to the national movement.

Several members of the Committee have undertaken to contribute one hundred rupees each and some others fifty rupees each per month till the end of this year for the re-organisation of the Central Office and revivifying the work of the Congress.

Two Sub-Committees were appointed—one to report to the A. C. T. C. C. on the Official Language question and its implications to the national educational policy, and another to define accurately the policy and programme of the A. C. T. C. C. for immediate publication.

ference on Monday.

It is believed as a result of the discussion that if the scheme is eventually accepted, there will be three layers of Legislatures and Executives, Provincial, Federal and Union.

Gandhi Meets Cabinet Mission

Simla, May 6.

Following the adjournment of the Tripartite Conference till Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Gandhi received a request to meet the Cabinet Mission and the Viceroy. Accordingly he drove to Vice-regal Lodge at 7.30 p. m. and was with the Viceroy for 90 minutes, during which time it is presumed they covered the entire field of the discussions that had taken place during the last two days.—A.P.

Death Of Mr. Bhulabhai Desai

"INCARCERATION HIS PENSION AND PEERAGE"

Mr. Bhulabhai Desai, who had been a prominent figure in Congress politics, died on May 6, at the age of 69. He had been seriously ill for some time. Mr. Desai was a Member of the Congress Working Committee and President of the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee.

Sri Bhulabhai Desai joined the Congress movement rather late but proved a distinct acquisition to that great national organisation. He was the "legal brain" of Congress. He was the Advocate-General of Bombay, but unlike another Advocate-General, that of Madras.—Mr. Srinivasa Iyengar—he kept aloof from Congress during the non-co-operation movement. He came to the forefront as a national leader during the second Civil Disobedience movement. And he suffered heavily for it. He was awarded one year's imprisonment and Rs. 10,000 fine for violating the Emergency Powers Ordinance.

"Pension and Peerage"

That was Bombay's glorious age. The greatest leaders, including the late Vithalbhai Patel, were clapped into jail, some after trial and others without it. Vithalbhai Patel, who had previously resigned the Presidentship of the Assembly, called that incarceration his "pension and peerage". And Bhulabhai J. Desai had also his "pension and peerage". He had won the crown of legal glory, it was now his destiny to wear the crown of legal thorns.

And Mr. Desai became famous all over India. He soon attained more fame as the leader of the Congress party in the Assembly at Delhi. He stepped into the shoes of the late Pandit Motilal Nehru, who had really carried the national struggle into the bureaucratic citadel. Mr. Desai with his legal acumen and constitutional knowledge had been quite at home there and he led his party from victory to victory. Many of his speeches have become historic, and he fought many a tough battle, against "bureaucratic irresponsibility."

Farewell to Indian Chief Justice

The members of the Vivekananda Society, and the Hindu public of Colombo gathered in large numbers at the Vivekananda Society Hall on Sunday 28th April, to bid farewell to the Hon'ble Mr. T. M. Krishnaswamy Iyer, Chief Justice of Travancore, and his party on the eve of their departure to India after their pilgrimage to the holy shrine of Katragama. Mr. Krishnaswamy Iyer and his Katragama devotees were taken in procession to the Society Hall and was garlanded by Mr. P. S. Thuraiappah, J. P., Hon'y. Secretary, Vivekananda Society and by Mr. K. V. S. Sunderam on behalf of the Society and the Hindu public respectively.

Mr. Sundaram who presided at the meeting spoke very feelingly on Thirupugal Mani Krishnaswamy Iyer's devotion to Lord Murugan and his clear expositions of the sacred songs of Arunagirinathar in his lectures delivered at Katragama, Matara, Calle, Colombo, Jaffna, Vaddukoddai, Moolai, Karainagar, Point Pedro, Valvettiturai, Anuradhapura and Trincomalee. An address was read and presented by Mudaliyar S. Sinnathamby. Thirupugal Mani replied suitably. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. A.M.K. Kumarasamy and was followed by a social.

The Hindu public owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. K. Kanagaratnam,
