NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS.

CONTRIBUTORS of Articles to The Ceylon Antiquary and Literary Register will greatly oblige the Editors by leaving the upper half of the first sheet of manuscript blank, for the convenience of the Editors in entering instructions to the Press regarding titling, style of printing, etc.

2. The task of the Editors will be greatly lightened and the cost of composition and correction lessened if the following suggestions are observed:—

(i) In preparing copy, a margin of at least three inches should be left on one side. The revision of crowded manuscript is excessively laborious. Further, the folios should be numbered consecutively from 1 to the end.

(ii) Please write plainly, especially proper names and foreign words. If Roman or Italic characters with diacritical points are used, those points should be distinct and rightly placed. Words to be printed in Italics should be once underscored. Type-written copy always needs to be carefully revised, with especial attention to mechanical faults, punctuation, and paragraphing.

(iii) Punctuate the copy precisely as you wish it to appear in print. Double marks of quotation (“ ”) should be used for actual quotations; single marks (‘ ’) for included quotations, definitions, and the like.

(iv) Give the title of books cited in full where it first occurs. In subsequent citations, the work may be indicated by brief reference, e.g., Tennent l. loc cit. p. Entire uniformity should be observed throughout the article.

Footnotes should be kept within moderate limits. References to footnotes should be made by brief series of natural numbers (from 1 onwards), not by stars, daggers, etc.

Additions and alterations in type, after an article is printed in pages, are in many cases technically difficult and proportionately costly, the bill for corrections sometimes amounting to as much as the first cost of composition. A careful preparation of the manuscript or “copy,” in the manner above indicated, will save every one much unnecessary trouble.

Notes and Queries will always be gladly received for insertion in The Ceylon Antiquary and Literary Register.

Remittances, correspondence relative to subscriptions, and notices of change of address should be sent to
